

SHORTAGE CHARGE
AGAINST MANAGERGrand Jury Investigating Account of Frederick T. Flake With the De-

The grand jury is investigating the financial affairs of Frederick T. Flake of 3662 Humphrey street, in connection with his position as St. Louis agent of the Defender Photo Supply Co. of Rochester, N. Y. The company alleges that there is a discrepancy of $5500 in his accounts with the home office.

Flake is 33 years old and has a family. He has been agent for the Defender company for five years and has worked up a large business for it in St. Louis.

Martin Hoyt, secretary and treasurer of the company, came here a month ago, and before returning to New York he placed the case in the hands of the detective agency conducted by former Detective Chief Desmond.

With the aid of his partner, former Assistant Chief Keely, he obtained the evidence which will be submitted to the grand jury. Flake is said to have expressed his willingness to turn over some of his property to the firm.

Former Rival Cosmetics.

According to information obtained by detectives, Flake three years ago formed the Regal Platinum Paper Co., with headquarters at Third and Pine streets. This business was in direct competition with that of the company which he represented as agent.

Several months ago the Defender people found that the independent company was making inroads on its business and bought out the Regal company, paying Flake a good price for the stock and good will.

Later, it is said, Flake formed the Western Specialty Co. and engaged in the manufacture of toys. In his statement made to investigators he said that the missing money was absorbed in that business.

Flake denies that he is guilty of embezzlement and calls his shortage a "discrepancy." He is under surveillance while the grand jury is hearing evidence.

Flake quit the employ of the Defender company two weeks ago and is now agent for a rival company.

"I thought that was all squared," he said to a Post-Dispatch reporter. "When I quit there was about $5500 in bad accounts on my books—bills that I had been unable to collect. The company held me responsible for them and I mortgaged my property and life insurance and made the amount good. I am surprised to hear the grand jury is investigating."

FLYING AUTO TO
INSTANT DEATHEmil E. Stricker Killed When
Tire Explodes and Car
Runs Into Fence.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Nov. 17.—Emil E. Stricker was instantly killed at 2:40 o'clock this morning while driving an automobile at a speed of 65 miles an hour on a dark track in an effort to lower the 24-hour record for a circular track set by George Robertson. The accident was due to the bursting of a tire, which caused the auto to swerve, throwing the chauffeur to the ground with such force that his head and face were crushed and several ribs and one leg and one arm were broken.

The race was at the Fair Grounds and was started at 9 o'clock last night, with Louis Strang at the wheel. He ran the car until 12:30 a. m., maintaining a speed of 65 miles an hour, a trifle better than Robertson's record. A large crowd saw the start of the race, but when Stricker relieved Strang half an hour after midnight, most of the crowd had gone home.

Going at Record Pace.

Stricker, who has been known as one of the most daring chauffeurs engaged in racing, set a fast pace directly from the start. The few spectators who remained in the grand stand were amazed at the skill and daring he displayed. The side of the track furthest from the grand stand was badly lit, and the speeding Renault car could hardly be seen on the back stretch.

About two hours after he had taken charge of the car and when seven miles ahead of the record, the fatal accident occurred. Leon Barrows, a local chauffeur, was in the car with Stricker. Not more than fifty spectators were watching the race and they saw little of the accident, owing to the darkness.

Two Tires Exploded.

There was a sharp report as one tire exploded, followed almost immediately by a second. Then the car was seen to have stopped. The crowd rushed across the field to the scene. Stricker was dead and his companion was unconscious. They were lying on the track close to the outside. The car was a wreck, having crashed against the fence and then turned over.

The men were hurried to the hospital, but Stricker was beyond help. The physicians say that Barrows will recover.

Barrows has been unable to explain the accident, but it is supposed that when the first tire exploded the chauffeur, going at a trifling speed, was thrown out of the car suddenly swerved and struck the fence, the impact causing a second tire to explode.

Stricker was a native of Alsace-Lorraine and was 25 years old. He was unmarried and has several cousins in New York.

Respect of Neighbors in Oklahoma.

GUTHRIE, Ok., Nov. 17.—William Slaton, who was taken from Muskogee back to Gunterville, Ala., today to answer to a charge of murder, committed in 1890, was betrayed by his brother-in-law, with whom he had recently quarreled.

The crime with which Slaton is charged was the murder of John Davis. Slaton was arrested at the time, but escaped and ever since has concealed his identity.

Detectives, employed by Davis' relatives, have searched the South for 18 years in vain. Only recently did Slaton's brother-in-law write to the Gunterville officers and inform them of Slaton's whereabouts.

Sheriff Gibson came immediately to Oklahoma, found Slaton a prosperous farmer, living near Porum in Southern Muskogee County, arrested and took him to Muskogee.

Gov. Comer of Alabama issued a requisition to take Slaton back to Gunterville and this was honored last night by Gov. Haskell. It is understood that Slaton accompanied by the man wanted.

Since coming to old Indian Territory, 12 years ago, he has married, having now a wife and three small children, the oldest being 10 years old.

Slaton lived in and around Checotah and Porum for 12 years, and had led an exemplary life.

Within a short distance from where Slaton was arrested Sheriff McCulle of Oklahoma County has arrested John Land, alias Cone, wanted for a murder in Calhoun County, Florida, a year ago.

DRUMMER FOR COUNTERFEITERS
EXPOSES THREEJohn Payne Testifies That He Was Tempted to Pass
Bad Coin.

Working as drummer for a "queer money factory" isn't what it is cracked up to be, according to the testimony of John Payne, who turned Uncle Sam's evidence in the United States District Court Tuesday against A. Brewer, Hugh Cinders and George Hurdick.

"They told me that if I got in trouble they would get me out, but they didn't, and after I had been in jail two months I decided to peach on them."

As Payne said this his three former companions in crime glowered at him.

"They were making counterfeit money. I had a table with me and a little square frame made out of pieces of a cigar box. In the bottom of this they had a piece of glass."

"They would lay a silver dollar or half dollar on the glass and pour plaster of Paris over it to make the mold. When they had moulds of both sides they would put them together, make a little hole at the edge and pour in hot metal."

"When they would break the plaster mold off there would be a sort of bump or crease on the edge of the coin where the metal was poured in. Hurdick was an expert at filing this down so it wouldn't be noticed."

"The next day I would out and passed one of the counterfeit dollars. Mostly in saloons. I got arrested, but I thought they would keep their promise and get me out."

"When they threw me down I sent for Secret Service men, Brennan and Philpott visited me at the jail. I told them where the gang had hidden the molds back of the saloon."

"I'd never have done it if they had told fair with me. They ought to have known better."

OTTO SCHUMACHER, FORMER DELEGATE, TRIES TO SHIFT
THE BLAME FOR HIS ARREST

Otto Schumacher, former member of the House of Delegates and witness for the State in the hoodle prosecutions, was fined $5 for peace disturbance and $5 for resisting arrest in the Dayton Street Police Court Tuesday.

He was taken in custody last Wednesday night in a saloon at Vandeventer and Garland avenues, where he had been drinking with three women.

"That policeman was drunk," he said, pointing to Patrolman Polimeyer.

City Attorney Levy jumped to his feet. Shaking his finger at the witness, he said: "Schumacher, this isn't the first time you've tried to saddle blame on someone else, is it?"

"No," said Schumacher.

"Well, you can't do it in this court," thundered Levy.

40 ALTON MEN
TO SHOW THEIR FEET FOR PRIZEBlue Ribbon Will Be Tied to the Big Toe of the Winner.

SOME forty Alton men will bare their soles to the world's gaze at the first annual Foot Fair, to be held in Turner Hall, Alton, next month.

With toenails carefully manicured or pedicured and heels sprinkled with rosewater, the contesting feet will rest on downy cushions, while the public passes by to view them, and to approve or disapprove the work of the judges, who will adorn some of them with ribbons.

The longest and most gayly gilded blue ribbon will be attached to the big toe of the biggest foot shown. There will be awards for the smallest and shapeliest foot, and for the longest, shortest, broadest and narrowest feet.

Joseph Holl and John Mitchell, the promoters of the exhibition, believe they can not only get men to exhibit their upturned walking appliances, but that they can get people to attend and pay a quarter or so to see the display. There is talk of a Christmas slipper bazaar in connection with the exhibition.

Holl and Mitchell have begun preparing a list of possible contestants, classifying separately the men with large feet and the men with small feet. They have thus far enrolled are all of one kind. They are Chris Eaton, John Smith, Frank Eichel, Frank Bible, Charles Elert and Louis Epplattner.

BURGLAR took a 75-cent razor from John Hessebauer's home on Washington street, Alton, early Tuesday, and left his $5 overcoat in getting away.

WELLINGTON PRESTON, a traveling salesman, laughed so hard when C. F. Scott, another drummer, told at the Depot Hotel in Alton of his experience in trying to get election night news in Roodhouse, Ill., that he choked and a physician had to be called. Preston tried to repeat the story to the doctor later, but started to choke again and had to give it up.

DOUGHNUTS and dominoes will help to uplift farm life among the dwellers east of Upper Alton Saturday nights this winter. Following President Roosevelt's advice, the farmers have arranged for weekly socials, and the first was held last Saturday night at Alcide Nicolet's.

A SAND mine was discovered in the back yard of W. F. Henry, former mayor of East Alton, while Mr. Henry was digging the other day. The vein of sand is of the choicest quality, and Mr. Henry expects it to bring good money as material for foundry molds.

BRANDENBERG Pleads Not Guilty. NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—Broughton Brandenberg, the magazine writer, today pleaded not guilty to an indictment charging larceny in accepting $500 from a newspaper for a letter which purported to be from President Cleveland in which the late President endorsed the candidacy of President-elect Taft.

Brandenberg was arrested Tuesday at the Mullamphy Hospital to prevent the spread of infection caused by necrosis of the bones of his right foot.

It is feared that unless the ravages of the disease are checked it may be necessary to amputate the foot. Necrosis is a crumbling away of the bony structure.

"WHO AM I?" ASKS GIRL
IN AD; MOTHER REPLIESMrs. Hirth Believes Young Woman Who Doesn't Know Name Is Her Daughter,
Lost 20 Years.

PERSONAL—I want to know who I am. I was left in Mascot, Ill., with Dr. Brum in 1888 by my mother, and I don't know what my name is; I am a young lady, height 5 feet 5 inches, 145 pounds, blue eyes, dark blonde hair, full face. "Mother," if you are living, please answer this ad. at once. Other papers please copy. Box B-153, Post-Dispatch.

The foregoing advertisement appeared under the classification "Personal" in Sunday's Post-Dispatch. Monday it was answered by this ad, which appeared just over the second insertion of the original inquiry:

PERSONAL—Lady of Mascot, Ill., of Dr. Brum for information or mother, write or call at 1615 Grattan, St. Louis, Mo. Mrs. Annie Hirth.

Now Mrs. William J. Hirth of 1615 Grattan street is in an ecstasy of hope that the young woman who made the pathetic appeal for information about herself is her own daughter, Gillie LaBeau, whom the mother has not seen since her daughter was a baby, 20 years ago.

Thanks Long Wait Is Ended.

Three other children, taken from Mrs. Hirth by her first husband, Joseph LeBeau, when the couple separated, have been restored to the mother in a manner almost as strange.

And now the mother thinks she will have the privilege of folding her arms about the daughter, who had become just a memory to her, and of hearing from the lips she has not kissed in so many years, the sacred name of "mother."

Tuesday morning Mrs. Hirth, with an eagerness that knew no bounds, waited at her Grattan street home for the expected visit of the young woman who sent that touching message to the unknown mother through the want ad column.

When they meet they will search each other's faces for some familiar feature. The mother's memory will be combed for every little detail of the face of the baby she lost long ago and the young woman, drifting in the world without a name, will study Mrs. Hirth's face for some expression, some feature that still remains a vivid memory in the midst of the blurred recollections of early childhood.

So matter what the outcome of the first meeting of the two, there will be sympathy inexpressible between the daughter heart-hungry for the mother she does not know, and the mother longing for the little girl she lost.

Mysterious Man in Auto.

Mrs. Hirth told a Post-Dispatch reporter Tuesday of the visit to her home the day before of a young man in an automobile.

"He showed me a small picture on a pin," she said, "and asked me if that looked like my daughter. I was astonished to see that the picture not only resembled another daughter, but looked very much like me. I told the young man I believed it was Gillie.

"He said she had been well raised, was educated and accomplished. She was in Springfield, Ill., he said, but he would have her at my house today. I was so excited I did not ask what her present name is nor her Springfield address. I didn't even ask the young man who he was or what interest he had in the matter."

"You can imagine how a mother must have felt when she found what she believed was a clue to a daughter who had been missing as long as mine. I hardly knew what I was doing."

How He Found the Others.

When Mrs. Hirth, then Mrs. La Beau, separated from her first husband, La Beau took their four children to a private institution in North St. Louis. A woman named Kelly kept that institution. She agreed to care for the children as long as the father paid their board.

Mrs. Hirth says that her husband failed after a time to pay the board and that the children were given away. She was not notified, she says, although Mrs. Kelly had given a promise to send her word before letting the children go.

Several years later the eldest child, Josephine, found her mother. She is now Mrs. James Stewart of Pittsburg, Kan.

Later James, a son, was found in the City Hospital in St. Louis, but he was fatally hurt and died some time afterward.

Laura, the third child, was taken into the home of a family at Godfrey, Ill. She ran away from home and was taken in charge by the Salvation Army, eventually finding her way to the mother's arms. She is now Mrs. Taylor.

But the mother's heart always ached for the baby, who had been a frail little thing. Her second husband, the baby's stepfather, was also anxious to find her. It was he who urged that a reply to the advertisement be published.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Nov. 17.—The "voodoo test" applied to an alleged murderer by a negro member of a Coroner's jury today made rust on a gunbarrel look like blood and convicted the defendant, who is a white man, in his own mind. Convinced that no further proof was necessary, the accused man cut his throat before the jury and died without uttering a word.

The dramatic suicide followed an emphatic denial by the prisoner, Louis Hurch, that he was guilty of the assassination of Sam Haywood, a farmer near Monticello, Ark., who was called to his door Saturday night and shot to death by a man standing at his front gate.

The assassin emptied the contents of a shotgun into his victim, who died without making any statement which would tend to identify his assassin.

Made Impassioned Denial.

An investigation by the authorities cast suspicion on Hurch, and he was arrested. A Coroner's jury was impaneled and Hurch made his statement. It was an impassioned denial that he was the slayer.

When Hurch's testimony was concluded, and his acquittal seemed certain, the negro member of the jury arose and demanded the "voodoo test."

"If the gun is discharged and the man is guilty," he said, earnestly, "the gun will sweat blood at the muzzle."

The weapon was loaded, inspected by the other members of the jury, and then discharged.

When the smoke had cleared away Hurch, the prisoner, looked at the muzzle. It was stained.

"Blood," said the negro. Hurch drew a knife from his pocket and plunged the blade into his throat. He died without a word.

Then the other members of the jury examined the gun.

"Rust," they said.

Another highway robbery was added Monday night to the long list credited to the district just east of Jefferson avenue on Washington, of which the West End Physical Culture Club, at the corner of Twenty-second street, is the center.

Sheriff James Croke of Farmington, Mo., fell into the hands of thugs just west of Twenty-first street on the south side of Washington avenue about midnight Monday. His assailants, he says, were two white men and one negro.

Sheriff Croke is 6 feet tall and weighs 200 pounds. He was seized by the men, who demanded his business on the street at that hour. He said he was on his way to his hotel. The men ran their hands over his clothes to see if he was armed.

Robbed on "Suspicion."

"You're a suspicious character," they cried, knocking him down and kicking him as he lay on the ground. Two of them held him while the third took his valuables.

A gold watch and chain valued at $125, a diamond ring valued at $150, a Jasper ring valued at $25, a $60 overcoat, a $4 hat and $25 in cash were taken.

The thieves kicked him some more and he ran. He staggered to his feet and continued on his way downtown until he reached the Laclede Hotel, where he was stopping, when the morning was considerably advanced. He was covered with blood from cuts on his head and face.

Violently Stated "Strong-Arm Lane."

The policeman on duty at the hotel took him to Police Headquarters, where he made a report of the robbery.

The attack on Sheriff Croke had been preceded by about a dozen other similar crimes in the past few weeks. Members of the "Bottoms Gang" are said to make headquarters at the West End Club, which the police have been threatening to close for some time.

Other tough characters frequent the vicinity and are known to the police. But few arrests have been made as a result of the robberies. At Police Headquarters the section of Washington avenue where the robberies occur is coming to be known as "Strong-Arm Lane."

The legitimate FAIR circulation of the Post-Dispatch at St. Louis and its suburbs is greater than that of ALL other English Dailies COMBINED.

BLOOMINGTON, Ill., Nov. 17.—After being out but a short time the jury in the Saxe-Davison breach of promise suit here this morning awarded Miss Lena Saxe, the complainant, the sum of $3500. The verdict ends a week of sensational evidence in which George Davison, the defendant, sought to show that his relations with Miss Saxe were not actuated by love or attended by intentions of making her his wife.

He produced witnesses who swore on the stand that they had observed Davison and Miss Saxe in bathing together in a secluded spot on the Sangamon River.

Davison and Miss Saxe are employed by the Chicago & Alton Railway. Miss Saxe as night telegraph operator at Lawndale and Davison as a locomotive engineer.

Trainmen testified that they found the telegraph office at Lawndale locked when Davison and Miss Saxe were there.

Miss Saxe said that she often spent the night in the office, sometimes coming down from Bloomington on fast trains that stopped only at Atlanta, and then walking to Lawndale, five miles away.

She alleged Davison gave her a diamond engagement ring. Davison said he simply let her wear the ring for a time.

When Davison told Miss Saxe that he was to be married to another woman, she would not believe that he would forsake her until the engagement was announced.

She then filed suit against Davison for breach of promise, asking $3500. Davison went ahead with the plans for his wedding to her rival here a few weeks ago. Davison owns considerable property.

COMMERCIAL PANIC SWEEPING CHINA, REVOLUTION IS FEARED

News Causes English Concerns in Flowery Kingdom to Restrict Business.

LONDON, Nov. 17.—A commercial panic is sweeping over the Chinese Empire as the result of the change in Government regimes, according to the pessimistic cables received here today from English merchants in China.

The tone of today's messages is far more gloomy than that manifested in the cables immediately following the death of the Emperor and Dowager Empress.

The run on Chinese banks was continued today with redoubled alarm, and hundreds of institutions will have to close unless the government can allay the panicky feeling of the populace.

Big commercial houses with branches in China have already begun to adopt restrictive measures in the fear that the Flowery Kingdom is about to be plunged into a revolution as a result of the effort to continue the Manchu dynasty.

MUSIC MASTER STRICKEN, LONGS FOR HIS LOST FAME

Once Leader of Great Military Band and Applauded by Austrian Emperor Is Now Obscure Violin Player.

Memories of the great days when he flourished his baton before the crack band of the Sixty-first Hungarian Regiment, when the air was vibrant with the melodies of his native Hungary and the Emperor himself applauded, crowd like ghosts upon the brain of Mattis Hay, a music master, as he lies on his cot at the City Hospital, a sufferer from heart disease.

"Here it has been different," he said wistfully Tuesday, "I have not met in America with the fortune that was mine in the Fatherland. And I craved that I wanted to be a personage here, to lighten the lives of the people of this country with my music. And I worked too hard and grieved too much. It has affected my heart."

Like Warfield's Character.
The music master was taken to the hospital from his home, 1505 South Seventh street, Monday. He is suffering from heart lesion and his condition is said to be serious.

He is 44 years old, a widower, and in many respects resembles the character portrayed by David Warfield, although he is searching for no lost little girl in the strange, new country.

"At home I had position in the world," he told a Post-Dispatch reporter, "the band of which I was leader was one of the finest in the army of my country. It had 60 pieces. I have composed music, my two best-known airs for the band being 'The Crown Prince' and 'The Steeplechase.'"

Teacher, but Obscure.
"Here I have classes of pupils. I teach the violin, the cornet and the piano. I play them all. But here I have been obscure."

The music master says he will recover and go back again to his music, to his violin and piano. The hospital doctors, when asked about him, merely say: "These diseases of the heart are very uncertain. He is a sick man now."

PREACHER ORDERED TO LEAVE CITY WILL DEFY CHURCH

Friends of the Rev. J. H. Flower, founder and pastor of the Lighthouse Mission of the Free Methodist Church, 221 Pine street, will refuse to obey the orders of the Rev. W. D. Cochran, presiding elder of the district, ordering the closed and directing Mr. Flower to leave St. Louis.

The Rev. Flower was recently found guilty by a church committee of twelve on a charge of having disrupted the church organization in St. Louis and of having induced members of the Free Methodist Church, to leave that church and attend his mission.

The Rev. Flower is now doing evangelistic work in Jackson, Miss.

WORK ON WELLS BUILDING SHAKES OTHERS NEARBY

Commercial Building Rocks Until Jephtha Howe's Clock Stops.

TO DRIVE 193 PILES

May Be Necessary to Bore 67 Feet Through Vein of Quicksand.

The 13-story La Salle Building, to be erected over Mayor Wells' hole in the ground at Broadway and Olive street, will be supported by 35 concrete piles, resting on solid rock, 32 to 35 feet below the surface of the street.

At the Broadway corner of the foundation it may be necessary to put the concrete piles down to 67 feet, through a vein of quicksand. Whenever quicksand is struck the 14-inch steel tube, in which the concrete pile is first formed, is left in the ground for 12 or 14 hours, while the mass of cement, gravel and mortar hardens.

The tube is then withdrawn, leaving a perfect pile resting upon the solid rock. The concrete piles will be three feet apart under the entire foundation of the building. Thirty-five have already been put down.

Tube Driven by Trip Hammer.
A 14-inch steel tube, weighing several tons, is driven into the earth by a powerful trip hammer. The base of the tube is fixed upon a steel point, which is driven to the rock and left there for the foot of the pile to rest upon.

The quicksand beds below the site and the adjoining buildings have made it impossible to do any excavating for the foundation of the building. A year ago, when plans were under way to erect a 19-story building on the Wells site, the owners of the Third National Bank Building, across the street threatened to bring injunction proceedings to prevent excavations.

It was feared that the tremendous pressure of the skyscrapers at Olive street and Broadway would force such a quantity of quicksand out of the opening as to endanger the Commercial, Third National Bank, Bank of Commerce, Commonwealth Trust and the old Scruggs-Vandervoort & Barney buildings.

The Commercial Building was endangered by the excavations for the Third National Bank Building foundation. Building Commissioner Smith was forced to stop the excavations to prevent the east wall of the Commercial Building from slipping out. The building settled so much that the walls and plaster cracked in many of the offices.

With every fall of the trip hammer on the La Salle Building site the Commercial Building is shaken from basement to roof. The vibration is so violent that it has even stopped Jephtha Howe's clock in his office on the sixth floor.

William H. Miltenberger is at the head of the syndicate that is erecting the building. The business depression interfered with his original plan to erect an 18-story building on the lot, which has a frontage of but 23 feet on Broadway. With the building but 13 stories high the foundations have to be exceptionally strong for such a narrow structure. The National Concrete Construction Co. of Louisville has the contract for putting in the concrete piles.

Tried to Buy Other Buildings.
Efforts to buy the Oakes Building, fronting on Broadway, and a wing of the old Scruggs Building fronting on Olive street, so as to make the La Salle Building much larger, have failed and the promoters now intend to erect the tall, narrow structure.

Ten days ago the drilling of holes for the concrete piles was suspended, pending the outcome of negotiations for these buildings. When the negotiations failed the work of putting in the piles was resumed. Mayor Wells will have a financial interest in the La Salle Building.

The concrete piles are a much cheaper and more efficient method of supporting foundations in the quicksand rivers that run under the central section of the city. The contractors for the National Bank of Commerce annex were months putting in concrete foundations through caissons.

With one small engine and derrick seven concrete pillars can be put in in one day. It will require about twenty-eight days to put in the piles, unless the quicksand becomes more troublesome than the contractors expect.

FOOD DIGESTED BEFORE YOUR EYES IN COMMON GLASS

Preparation Placed in Drinking Tumbler Shows How the Stomach Works.

C. E. Miller, representing E. C. de Witt & Co. of Chicago, says of the company's preparation, KODOL, that it will digest any ordinary food in a glass tumbler, thus giving ocular demonstration of the claims made in its behalf.

The method of making this test, according to Mr. Miller, is to run the food—beef, pork, eggs, potatoes, beans, cheese or whatnot—into a glass tumbler used for the test—through a mill which produces artificial mastication. The artificially masticated food is then placed in a tumbler of water at the temperature of the normal, healthy stomach, shaken occasionally, as food in the stomach is moved and churned, and the digestive process, he says, goes on before the eyes.

One tablespoonful of the preparation, KODOL, does the work. He adds that the preparation is absolutely harmless. The manufacturers of KODOL make the assertion that there is not "one drop of harm" in a whole gallon of the preparation.

The company invites persons interested in aids to digestion to make a thorough investigation of all its claims and offers to show to anyone making the request experiments described by Mr. Miller, together with others of a sim-

B. S. Kell to Be Buried in Ohio.
The body of Benjamin S. Kell, a retired stove merchant, who died at his home, 5573A Vernon avenue, after a short illness Monday, will be taken to Salem, O., for burial, following funeral services at the family residence Tuesday afternoon. Mr. Kell leaves a widow and two sons, Walter M. of Chicago and Judson B. of St. Louis.

Missing Girl Took Clothes.
The police have been asked to find Miss Laura L. Denker, 17 years old, who left her home at 7308 South Broadway at 3 p. m. Monday to go down town. After she had been away from the house several hours the mother discovered the girl had taken all her clothes. Miss Denker is a blonde, 5 feet 5 inches tall, and weighs 120 pounds.

Dog Guards Master's Body.
The dog owned by M. O. Schreiter, a Madison County farmer, kept guard over his master's dead body when Schreiter was killed by the accidental discharge of a shotgun in a cornfield near his home Monday. When Mrs. Schreiter and her mother-in-law went to look for him the dog told the tale of the body. A coroner's jury pronounced the death an accident.

Snowy Linens for the Thanksgiving Table

Time to get ready for Thanksgiving! The Thanksgiving Dinner Table looks twice as appetizing when the linen is white as the snows of midwinter. The contrast with the gleaming silverware, the steaming, odoriferous turkey, the wine-red cranberries, golden-topped celery and sparkling cut glass is most agreeable to the eye and refreshing to the senses. By purchasing now we can have Linens ready for use when you say. Hemmed, laundered and embroidered, if you wish, for very little extra. Here are Wednesday's very important offerings:

NOW DO THE LITTLE BUSY BEE MAKE GLAD THE HEART OF KINDLY FARMER

Jersey County Insects Store Honey
in House Till the Walls Bulge.

Alton nature fakers will please take a back seat and give Jerseyville a show. Henry Tuetkin, a tenant residing on the old Thomas Cummings homestead, four miles south of Jerseyville, relates that wild bees stored up so much honey between the weather boarding and the walls of his house that the weather boarding bulged out, compelling him to employ a carpenter.

Monday afternoon, on removing the weather boarding, Mr. Tuetkin found over 100 pounds of fine, clear honey stored in his wall.

Early in May Mr. Tuetkin noticed a small swarm of bees around the house. The next day a much larger swarm came. Both swarms worked all summer, but were very tame, not molesting any of the children or other members of the family, taking up their abode under the weather boarding through a small hole in one of the boards.

Mr. Tuetkin took out only part of the honey, leaving the bees what he thought they would need during the winter. Mr. Tuetkin states he would not part with the bees under any consideration. He considers it good luck to have them there, and is doing all he can to make their stay agreeable.

THEODORE JR. IS A MASCOT

Hartford Carpet Company Gets a Big Government Contract.

HARTFORD, Conn., Nov. 17.—Boom times have come to the works of the Hartford Carpet Co. at Thompsonville, and people in that village are of the opinion that their good luck is due to Theodore, Roosevelt Jr., who recently began work in the factory.

Whatever caused it, a Government order has been received at the mills amounting to half a million dollars. This and other orders have given the company a bright outlook for the immediate future and all the departments will go on full time this week.

WOMAN'S BACKACHE

The back is the mainspring of woman's organism. It quickly calls attention to trouble by aching. It tells, with other symptoms, such as nervousness, headache, pains in the side, that a woman's feminine organism needs immediate attention.

In such cases the one sure remedy which speedily removes the cause and restores the feminine organism to a healthy, normal condition is

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND

Mrs. Will Young of 6 Columbia Av., Rockland, Me., says:
"I was troubled for a long time with dreadful backaches and a pain in my side, and was miserable in every way. I doctored until I was discouraged and thought I would never get well. I read what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had done for others and decided to try it. After taking three bottles I can truly say that I never felt so well in my life."

Mrs. Augustus Lyon, of East Earl, Pa., writes to Mrs. Pinkham:
"I had very severe backaches, headaches and was nervous. I could not sleep, and had no appetite. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound cured me and made me feel like a new woman."

FACTS FOR SICK WOMEN

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has positively cured thousands of women troubled with thyroid tumors, headache, backache, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness, or nervous prostration.

MAN RATED AS MILLIONAIRE IS SENT TO PRISON

Peter Van Vlissingen, Chicago
Real Estate Dealer, Admits
$700,000 Forgery.

ASKS FOR PUNISHMENT

Indictment and Sentence Follow Confession Four Hours After Arrest.

CHICAGO, Nov. 17.—Peter Van Vlissingen, yesterday one of Chicago's leading real estate operators and dealers in mortgages and other securities, noted for his philanthropy and locally rated as a millionaire, is today under sentence to the Penitentiary at Joliet. He is a self-confessed forger and through his operations, extending over a period of 18 or 20 years, during nearly all of his active business life, mean a loss of $700,000 to men and women who have trusted him.

From the luxuries of a palatial home at 5406 South Park avenue, where he lived with his wife, whom he married less than two years ago, Van Vlissingen goes to a prison cell within less than 24 hours after his arrest and exposure. The formalities of sentencing him to prison were completed in an almost incredibly short space of time. He was arrested at 1:30 yesterday afternoon, had signed a full confession, been indicted, arraigned and sentenced within less than four hours. His sentence is indeterminate and may be from one to 10 years.

Know Blow Had Fallen.

Van Vlissingen had known since last Friday that he had reached the end of his rope. On that day he was called to the office of T. J. Lefens, where he met William C. Seipp, two men with whom he had long done business and who had recently bought mortgage notes from him. They had learned that other persons held mortgage notes on the same property covered by their security, and they asked Van Vlissingen to explain. Mr. Lefens said today that Van Vlissingen boldly admitted that the notes were forgeries and were worthless. "I have figured," he said, "that there are three ways open to me—flight, suicide or the penitentiary. I have chosen the last and I am ready to go with you Monday morning to the State's Attorney's office, surrender myself, and go to jail. I will ask only that you remain quiet until Monday. I don't want to be dragged through the streets by a policeman. I want to go alone."

Van Vlissingen is said by his friends in recent years to have lived extravagantly. His offices at 172 Washington street are said to have cost him in maintenance about $40,000 annually.

Endless Chain of Forgery.

The system followed by the forger was a sort of endless chain. He got possession of a genuine mortgage and made a copy of it, forging signature of maker, maker's address and other details. Before the notes, secured by the mortgage, became due he paid them, taking up the mortgage. The money for this transaction was obtained by a second forgery and so on indefinitely, the forger growing richer and each year as he lost money in business deals.

Van Vlissingen denies that he has ever speculated in mining stocks, on the Board of Trade or in Wall street. His friends do not understand how he could have lost $700,000, as his real estate business was believed to be prosperous. The police today began a search for Mrs. Van Vlissingen, who has not been seen since her husband's confession before the grand jury. It is said she may be able to explain a number of things which are puzzling the State's Attorney.

When arraigned in court Van Vlissingen asked that his punishment be inflicted as soon as possible. He said that he committed the forgeries by placing the authentic document over a glass plate in a desk under which was a strong electric light. The forged document was then placed over the light and the signature was traced.

Prominent in Business.

Van Vlissingen was born in Holland and came with his family to a suburb of Chicago. He grew up in the financial end of the real estate business and was regarded as most successful in that line. He was publisher of the Real Estate News and vice-president and director of the Cook County Real Estate Board, organized by members who withdrew from the Chicago Real Estate Board.

The Van Vlissingens occupied a palatial home at 5406 South Park avenue, in one of the fashionable sections of the city. Mrs. Van Vlissingen has two children by a former marriage. She is a daughter of Wilton C. Roosevelt, said to be a distant relative of the President. She had been divorced from a dentist named Blend.

HOT POKER CAUSES A FIGHT

Frank Endress, 76 years old, is at the City Hospital suffering from a fractured skull, broken nose and six scalp wounds, while his nephew, Frank Endress, 33, is locked up in the Mounted District Station charged with assault to kill.

Endress and Labor reside at 6001 Elyer avenue. Monday evening, while Labor was seated at the supper table, Endress went to the stove and picked up the hot poker. In his effort to quickly release his hold on it Endress threw it across the room. It struck Labor behind the right ear. Endress attempted to apologize, but before he could do so Labor began beating him about the head with the poker. Endress' cries for help aroused the neighbors and the police were summoned.

MONTH OF REVIVAL MEETINGS AT LAFAYETTE PARK CHURCH

The Rev. Luther E. Todd of Methodist Congregation Obtains
Conversion of 80 Persons.

The Rev. Luther E. Todd, assisted by the congregation of the Lafayette Park Methodist Church, is conducting a November revival. The meetings opened on the first of the month and will continue until Dec. 1. There are services at 7:45 p. m. daily except Saturday, and four services on Sunday.

A chorus of 75 voices, three pianos, a full orchestra and the church organ furnish the music. The meeting up to Sunday resulted in the conversion of 80. The meeting is being advertised by the distribution of small booklets on which is the motto "Blot out the bad." The music is in charge of W. E. Pickett, B. F. True and W. E. Matthews.

NO BEER; CAT LEAVES TOWN

Feline Toper Deserts Connecticut

Village That Went "Dry." WINSTED, Conn., Nov. 17.—Fannie, a cat owned by Barreuther Bros., had a liking for lager beer. When the town recently voted "dry" her owners went out of business and Fannie missed her drink. For some days she went to her saucer and cried for beer, but as none was forthcoming she disappeared. It is suspected she has gone to the nearest license town.

HOUSE CATCHES FIRE WITH WIFE AWAY, HUSBAND ASLEEP

Roaring of Flames Awakens Man in Time to Save Self and Furniture.

Mrs. Arvilla Hobbs, wife of Charles Hobbs, a United Railways fireman, of 745 South Newstead avenue, started her breakfast cooking on a gasoline stove and went out to buy a loaf of bread Tuesday. When she returned the four-story frame house was afire. Hobbs, who was in bed in an adjoining room heard the roaring of flames. When he opened the kitchen door smoke forced him to retreat. He ran out the front way and turned in an alarm. Daniel Gould and Frederick Gould, neighbors, helped him save most of the furniture from the front rooms. The house was practically destroyed, the loss being estimated at $1000.

BANK CLOSES, CASHIER HELD

Monticello (Ky.) Institution Has

Estimated Shortage of $22,000. MONTICELLO, Ky., Nov. 17.—The Citizens' National Bank has been closed, its cashier, C. W. McConaghey, arrested and search instituted for Assistant Cashier E. J. Winfrey. McConaghey was taken immediately to Somerset for hearing before United States Commissioner Cook. The shortage is estimated at $22,000. The deposits are said to have amounted to $90,000.

Ohio State Treasurer Dies. CLEVELAND, O., Nov. 17.—William S. McKinnon, State Treasurer, died at his home in Ashland, O., early today. McKinnon was 56 years of age. He had been in ill health for more than a year.

WIFE SEEKS MISSING HUSBAND WHO THREATENED TO END LIFE

Herman Wilke Disappeared Nov. 7,
Saying That He Expected to Die Soon.

After threatening to commit suicide, Herman Wilke, 45 years old, of 2723 Euclid street, left his home Nov. 7, and has not been seen since. According to Mrs. Wilke, her husband had been drinking for several days and upon leaving the house said he would not live long and he intended to commit suicide. Fearing he will carry out his threat, his wife has asked the police to look for him, and gives the following description of him: He is 5 feet 3 inches tall, weighs 150 pounds and has fair complexion, brown hair, blue eyes and sandy mustache. He is tattooed on his right arm.

Eat and Get Thin

This is turning an old phrase into a new one, but modern methods of reducing fat have made this possible. If you are overweight and also suffer from physical exertion and ill-health, find out the cause and still want to reduce your weight, then, several pounds, do this: Go to your druggist, get a box of Marmola's (Gossamer, Detroit, Mich.) and give him (or send them) 75 cents. For this modest amount of money the druggist will put you in the way of satisfying your ambition for a nice, trim, slim figure. He will hand you a large box of Marmola's Prescription Tablets (composed in accordance with the famous Marmola Prescription), one of which you must take after each meal and at bedtime until you begin to lose your fat at the rate of 12 to 16 ounces a day. That is all. Just go on eating what you like, leave everything else as it is, but take your little tablet faithfully and without a doubt that flabby flesh will quickly take unto itself, waste away, leaving your natural self, well clothed in firm flesh and trim muscles. GRAY-HAIRED MAN FOUND GUILTY OF MISUSING MAILS

Robert Thomas Weeps When Convicted of Sending Doctor's Wife Improper Letter.

HE MADE CONFESSION

Afterward Denied Admissions,
but Evidence Against Him Caused Conviction.

Robert Thomas, 55 years old and gray-haired and prosperous looking, whose trial for sending an improper letter through the mails to Mrs. O. C. Raines, wife of a physician at 2221 Lucas avenue, precipitated a personal quarrel between United States District Attorney Blodgett and United States Commissioner Babbitt, was convicted in the Federal Court and sentenced to two years' imprisonment in the Penitentiary at Leavenworth, Kan.

The conviction of Thomas came after a long trial devoted principally to personal antagonism between the District Attorney and Babbitt, who represented Thomas.

As United States Commissioner, Babbitt bound Thomas over to await the action of the Federal grand jury. He then became counsel for Thomas. Post-office Inspector Sullivan lodged a complaint against Babbitt, and the trial of Thomas at the start became a fight of the District Attorney's office against Babbitt and a fight of Babbitt against Post-office Inspector Sullivan.

Babbitt, as United States Commissioner, has had no cases assigned to him by District Attorney Blodgett since May 1 when he heard the Thomas case.

The entire case against Thomas rested on a confession he made at the time of his arrest to Inspector-in-charge Dickson and Inspector Sullivan, and to Assistant District Attorney Daus. Yesterday Thomas denied having made a confession.

Thomas declared on the stand that Inspector Sullivan had induced him to go to Sullivan's office without telling him of any charge against him, and that by a grilling inquisition he has been brought up to such a nervous state that he may have made a statement. He denied, however, he had confessed.

Dickson, Sullivan and Daus testified Thomas had been questioned in a very mild manner and that he had freely admitted writing the improper letter.

When sentenced Thomas began weeping and his knees gave way under him. He was prevented from falling to the floor by Bailiff Murphy, who led him to a seat.

Attorney Babbitt said he would appeal the case.

FR. DEMPSEY, DESCRIBES WORK

St. Louis Friend of Homeless Speaks in Chicago.

CHICAGO, Nov. 17.—Missionary work in foreign lands occupied the attention of the first American Catholic Missionary Congress today.

"Caring for homeless men" was the subject set down for the Rev. Timothy Dempsey, founder of "Father Dempsey's Hotel," St. Louis. This was followed by a discussion of "Truth Societies and Their Influence," by the Rev. William F. McGinnis, founder and president of the International Catholic Truth Society, Brooklyn, N. Y.

South Side Day Nursery Rummage Sale

A rummage sale will be held for the benefit of the South Side Day Nursery on Wednesday and Thursday, Nov. 18 and 19, at 1111 Franklin avenue. Friends of the nursery will please send their out-of-date garments, old quilts and other suitable articles to the following addresses: Those in the West End of town to Mrs. Clara S. Russell, 5733 Calumet avenue, or to Mrs. J. A. Laird, 4905 McPherson avenue; in the central part of town to Mrs. M. L. Holman, 374 Finney avenue; in the southern part of town to Mrs. Albert Bruckner, 2815 South Fourth street. We bespeak a liberal reply from our friends. We are caring for about twice the usual number of children, so many men are unemployed and their wives are in need of help.

W. ZIEGLER GROWING BETTER

Aged Priest Was Stricken With Paralysis After Long Illness.

Father Charles Ziegler's condition was reported slightly improved Tuesday at the parochial residence of St. Malachi's Church, 204 Clark avenue. The aged priest suffered a paralytic stroke Monday and great anxiety is felt concerning him.

Father Ziegler is 76 years old and for a month past has been kept from his duties by illness. He has been pastor of St. Malachi's for more than 40 years. His efforts a few years ago defeated a movement to transfer the social evil district to a locality within the boundaries of his parish.

MOTORIST KILLED IN A RACE Attempt to Break World's Record Ends Fatally.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Nov. 17.—Emil Stricker was almost instantly killed and his Renault car smashed while trying to break the world's record for 24 hours' continuous automobile driving. Immediately after the accident the race was declared off.

FOR Cold in Head USE Omega Oil

Pour a teaspoonful of Omega Oil in a cup of boiling water, hold the mouth and nose close to the cup, and inhale the rising steam. The steam carries the healing properties of the Oil into the throat and lungs, giving quick relief. Also rub the nose and forehead with the Oil. 10c., 25c., 50c.

WOMAN ACCUSED OF 19-CENT THEFT HAD $248 AND JEWELRY

Expensively Dressed, Said to Have Stolen Cheap Talcum Powder and Soap.

Attired in expensive garments, with jewelry and $28 in her possession, a woman calling herself Mrs. Lillian Roberts was arrested Monday evening on a charge of stealing a 9-cent box of talcum powder and a 10-cent cake of soap. Tearfully, she protested her innocence at the rail in Central District Station.

She told Capt. Young that she lived at 408 Garfield avenue, but later admitted that was the wrong address. She had to spend Monday night in the matron's detention room.

The woman appears to be about 38 years old. She is short and stout. Her hair is brown and she has honest-looking blue eyes. Her features are sharp and her lips thin. Despite the fact that she says her name is Roberts, she wears a wedding ring inscribed "J. O. B. to L. M." She also wears an engagement ring, and in her purse with the money were found beads, medals and a slip of paper, on which was written "Mr. and Mrs. J. Linahan, 3413

East Twenty-third street, St. Louis Mo., '08. Good friends."

The woman was arrested at the instance of James Walker, manager of Penny & Gentles.

Home Treatment For Skin Diseases

The recent discovery that the drug citrox is a cure for eczema, tetter, salt rheum and other skin diseases has been of unestimable value to those suffering from all forms of skin diseases. The treatment is simple indeed—as it generally is when the right remedy is at last discovered. Purchase a small sealed package of pure citrox, just as it comes from the chemical works.

Dissolve a teaspoonful of citrox in two tablespoonfuls of warm water and bathe the affected skin twice daily, using a fresh solution each time for the treatment.

The discovery that citrox would cure skin diseases is claimed by several scientists, but in all probability Dr. J. E. Currier, of London, England, is the person to whom the credit of the discovery should be given. As it is with many important discoveries, there are many ready to claim the credit now that citrox is proving of such value.

$4.95 Trimmed Hat Sale Continues

Values even greater than before—None worth less than $7.50 and up to $10.00

So successful has this sale been that it has urged us to continue it. It is not at all remarkable that this sale has been so successful. We have been conservative, as usual, to state the values as they actually are; we say $7.50 to $10.00 Hats at $4.95, yet there are many Hats in the lot that were originally priced considerably higher. There are many hats to choose from, over 150 different styles included, in black, brown, navy, gray, green and many other colors; the Hats are really beautifully trimmed, and remarkable values at

A SALE OF WOMEN'S APPAREL

Which in point of genuine value-giving promises to far excel anything yet announced this season, is scheduled for Wednesday's rousing selling at Famous. We are not going to take up your time in reciting the circumstances that led up to this opportune sale, but we are going to say, and make it just as emphatic as we know how, that if you anticipate buying clothes in the near future you can very substantially reduce their cost by attending this sale tomorrow. This Fall's most desirable and fashionably correct Suits, Coats, Dresses, Skirts, Waists, etc., in the very newest modes, will be offered Wednesday at the lowest prices quoted thus far this season on qualities of such unusual merit.

The difference between the valuations named below and Wednesday's selling prices represents your actual saving.

Farmer Aids Men Train Injured.
Stephen Lomachowicz, whose address is unknown to the police, was found by a farmer near the C. B. & Q. tracks at Bellefontaine, Ill., Monday evening, with his toes cut off, both arms fractured and internally injured. The farmer stopped a train and Lomachowicz was taken aboard and brought to St. Louis, where he was placed in the City Hospital.

Home Treatment

For Consumption and Throat Troubles Proves Very Effective.

The camps for tuberculosis patients in the pine forests of Maine have demonstrated a wonderfully successful phase in the treatment of pulmonary diseases.

The remarkable stimulating effect on the respiratory organs by the resinous atmosphere of the pine forest has led to medical experts producing an extract from pine which contains the active principle so that by its use and the practice of deep breathing and lung exercise any person can have the advantages of the pine forest camps right at their own homes. The formula as originally prescribed is the following: "One-half ounce Concentrated pine compound, two ounces of glycerine, half pint of good whiskey. It should be taken thoroughly and taken in doses of a teaspoonful to a tablespoonful every four hours."

These ingredients can be had from any good druggist and easily mixed. The concentrated pines is a special pine product refined for medical use and comes only in half ounce bottles, each enclosed in a tin screw-top case, which is air-tight, but be sure it is labeled "Concentrated." ***

PLAN TO CREATE NEW JOBS WITH DYNAMITE FAILS

MOUNT VERNON, Ill., Nov. 17.—A Greek workman, charged with attempting to destroy a carload of fellow workmen, is in jail here. His plan was to blow up the car and kill all the occupants, then furnish the contractor with another consignment of laborers at the market price.

The carload of workmen was sidetracked near the Herrin mine on the C. B. & Q. tracks. The American watchman saw a man dig a hole under the car and plant something. The watchman arrested the man as he left the place, and gave an alarm. There was a sudden exodus from the car. It was found that dynamite enough to have destroyed the car and its occupants and make a big hole where they had been buried under the tracks.

The man who planted the explosive knew the contractor was paying $2 a head for workmen and he is said to have had a lot sequestered that he expected to send in to take the places of those the dynamite would put off the job.

The dynamite artist was placed in jail to save him from lynching, and will be tried for attempted murder.

"STOP DROPPING BALLOONS ON US" FRANCE DEMANDS

Government Notifies Kaiser He Must Stop Spilling Army Men There.

IT HAPPENS EVERY DAY

Farmers Can Hardly Plow a Field Without Tripping on a Drag-Rope.

PARIS, France, Nov. 17.—France wants Germany to stop musing up French territory with her balloons. According to a morning newspaper, the Government has become alarmed at the increasing number of air craft, manned by German army officers, which have been descending in France recently, and will insist that the Kaiser stop spilling his military on this side of the frontier.

The newspaper declares that diplomatic representations have been made to Berlin on the subject; that so far they have been in vain and the Government now is considering the question of taking rigorous steps to stop what is termed a "veritable peril."

This year's crop of balloons exceeds anything in history. Hardly a day passes without the report of the descent of a German army officer on French territory. In the past the Government wouldn't have worried much about it, but since the dangers of ballooning have been reduced to a minimum and the prospects of reducing the Kaiser's standing—or circulating—army by this method have decreased in proportion, the Government has decided that if French territory is to be plowed up by balloon anchors France herself will supply the balloons.

The Official View of It.
"It's getting so you can't shake a tree in France without dislodging a German army officer," said an official. "You can hardly glance up to see what the weather looks like without getting a dose of Berlin ballet in your eyes. It's enough to drive fishermen in the Seine in-Seine. They can't cast a line without hooking a representative of the Kaiser's Government. Picking unlucky German aeronauts out of the sea off the French coast has ceased to be an incident of navigation and has become an industry. Ocean liners will soon be acquiring most of their passenger list after they leave port."

"It used to be that a German army officer who wished to cross the frontier required passports. Now all he needs is a breeze. The trouble is that it's all coming in and nothing going out. When the German Government spills an officer and a detachment of privates on our territory, we have no way of forcing them to inflate and flow out again. Many of them may stay here. In the course of time, if the supply of balloons and army officers lasts, the Kaiser may have a bigger fighting force on this side of the line than he has in Germany."

The Farmers Complain.
"The rural population is complaining about it, too. After a hard day's work a farmer doesn't like to be disturbed in the middle of the night by the sharp end of an anchor. He doesn't like to stop work in the field every few minutes to disentangle himself from a drag-rope. In some districts near the frontier, they say, when the wind is from Germany the French farmers have to carry umbrellas to keep the sand out of their hair."

"We complained to the Aero Club of Berlin about it, but it didn't do much good. An aero club never knows anything about ballooning. They said if we would suggest a set of rules for these German-France contests they might offer a cup and provide prizes for the best rescue. So we took it up with the Kaiser."

DENIED LICENSE, GIRL WEEPS

Elopers From Paris, Ill., Score Two Failures.

Tears filled the eyes of Miss Laura I. B. Brown, whose dress reached just to her shoe tops, when the license clerk at St. Charles refused Tuesday to give her a license to wed Leslie E. Barom. Her voice choked as her pleadings were refused.

The young people gave their address as Paris, Ill. They said they had been refused a license in St. Louis because of Miss Brown's youthful appearance. She did not appear to be more than 16, but said she was 18. They said on leaving St. Charles that they would try Clayton.

CONCERT BY ST. MARY'S GUILD

Charles Galloway, Mrs. Knight, Walter Green and Buse Soloists.

A concert of interest to music lovers will be given for St. Mary's Guild of St. Peter's Episcopal Church, Lindell boulevard and Spring avenue, at 8 p. m. Tuesday. Among the soloists who will take part are Charles Galloway, organist; Mrs. Franklin Knight, contralto; Walter Green, baritone, and Joseph Buse, tenor.

The officers of St. Mary's Guild are Mrs. G. Lacy Crawford, president; Mrs. Richard W. Upshaw, vice-president; Mrs. Adolph Boeckeler, treasurer, and Mrs. Ada Alexander, secretary.

BOYS ADMIT THEY STOLE RED HOT STOVE AND SOLD IT

Wanted to Go to Show and Took First Portable Property Available.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—Three boys, defendants in the children's court, admitted that they had stolen a red hot stove. William Morgan, Charles Mireck and Frank Devlin, none of whom has celebrated his sixteenth birthday, are the adventurers.

The boys wanted to go to a show and did not have money enough. One of them noticed that a neighboring junk dealer had left his place unguarded. They went in, saw the stove, which had a fire in it, carried it off, dumped out the fire and sold the stove to another junk man for 30 cents.

"SAY, HUBBY DEAR, LISTEN!"
"At the club today Mrs. E. Konomy told me about those Yost Gearless Motor Washers. She has one and says it's perfectly grand. Her maid does all their washing now. They don't send out a single piece! Think of it! She says the 'Yost Gearless' is the most satisfactory article they ever had in the house. She simply raves about it. When you go out for lunch today, dearie, I want you to stop in at Geitz's store and have them send out one of these machines. Now, please don't forget, John. Good-by."

WHAT KIND OF HOME RULE?

There was nothing new in Governor-elect Hadley's pledge of home rule for cities in his St. Louis speech and yet it was enthusiastically cheered. It is to be remembered that while he made this promise repeatedly during the campaign, he also announced his purpose, if elected, to enforce all the laws. There are two ways in which a Governor can give the cities home rule. One is by assisting in the repeal of the laws which place the police, the election and excise boards in the control of the State, and the other is, by negligence, to permit things to run wide open.

It is plain enough that many people in St. Louis are not counting upon legislation as necessary to gain their ends in the matter of home rule. It is freely stated and generally believed that there is to be a much more liberal administration of the excise laws under Gov. Hadley. To many people home rule for cities has no other meaning than this. As Mr. Hadley is a man of honor and of firmness, there is likely to be a serious misunderstanding on this subject, unless he takes the trouble soon to define exactly what he means by the term.

Home rule resulting from violation of law would be intolerable. Home rule brought about in this fashion in the matter of excise would probably lead to indifference on the subject of genuine home rule. Home rule is of more importance than the question of the comfort and the prosperity of the saloon interest. Home rule may be made a very desirable condition of affairs, but it must be regulated by law and not by favor, and it must be properly safeguarded. It must not come in weakness. It must come, if at all, in power.

With great advantage to all concerned, Mr. Hadley might have expressed himself more in detail as to his idea of home rule. The excuse for generalization which was urged before the election does not now obtain.

OUR REBELLIOUS WARDS.

In Cuba now, as was the case not long ago in Panama, an election held in due form under the protection of United States troops, has legalized and justified revolution. Nothing but time will tell whether the American occupation has had an educational value in the right direction. This problem will be determined not so much by the attitude of the party which is soon to take office as by the plans of the various "generals" and "armies" included in the defeated organization. In both of these adventures we have shown our customary indifference to rebellion that does not take place upon our own soil.

CARS THAT DASH BETWEEN STOPS.

One fatal objection to the Beggs brand of pay-as-you-enter cars is that, with their choked entrances and exits, they take longer to load and unload at stops than other cars and hence are obliged to dash at dangerous speed between stops in order to make their schedules. Time lost at stops must be made up between and motormen are forced to take chances in the middle of the blocks, through congested districts, and in dashing past cross streets when there are no signals for stops.

This is aside from any objection to paying upon boarding the cars. With pay-as-you-enter cars constructed with roomy platforms and wide doors, entrance and exit would be facilitated and danger reduced in this respect, as in others, to say nothing of improving comfort.

The imitation pay-as-you-enter cars made with a hammer and saw out of old cars do not present a fair test of the system, but exaggerate its faults. The North American Company is doing itself an injustice in attempting to palm them off in St. Louis for the real thing. A few specially built cars of the new type, such as New York and Chicago have in use, would give the public a chance to judge the innovation on its merits.

WHY NOT TAKE COL. STEWART?

Surgeon-Major Means is about to be retired from the army with the pay of a retired Lieutenant-Colonel, $3675. The ground of his retirement is "physical disability," and we might infer that a man whose physical condition is not equal to the duties of a Surgeon-Major in time of peace is in poor shape indeed, the duties consisting of wearing a uniform at times, sitting around at ease, and now and then saluting a superior officer.

Then what must be our surprise when we are informed that this military invalid is going to Africa to hunt lions with his hardy Commander-in-Chief?

If Col. Roosevelt had to take an army valetudinarian along with him, why in the world didn't he take Col. Stewart of Arizona?

Senator-elect Krone's candor on the score of campaign contributions is enough to make all the rest of his party ashamed of itself in contrast. He admits to the Election Commissioners that he gave a $4 keg of beer to the Ninth Ward Republican Club. If all men were as frank as this one there would be no need of campaign publicity laws.

GET YOUR PARTY FIRST.

There is a lesson for the Democrats of the United States in the very comfortable situation in which the Republicans of Missouri find themselves. Ten or twelve years ago Missouri Republicans were apparently hopeless. In the last five years they have carried the State twice, once against a Democrat of extraordinary popularity in this section, and now they have elected a Governor, for the first time in 40 years.

To appreciate what the Republicans have done it is not necessary to approve all of their acts or to commend all of their leaders. They have had their own schisms and setbacks and some of their champions have been dubious enough, but it is to be noted that first of all they devoted themselves to party organization and that when they had established a real party it was not long before they found able leaders and successful candidates.

In the councils of the national Democracy of late much more attention has been paid to acquiring "issues" and allies than has been given to party organization and leadership. This has been inevitable under Mr. Bryan's continuing candidacy. Much thought has been devoted to clumsy finesse involving fusion and the taking up or the abandonment of questions which it was thought might appeal to the people. The party itself has been treated as a thing that could be delivered or withheld at will. Thus organization has suffered, popular aspirations have been ignored and a strong leadership has been lost. The rule of one man has been substituted for the influence of many men. In violent conflict with the true Democratic principle ideas have been handed down to the people duly indorsed and labeled, whereas in a genuine Democracy issues must spring from the millions themselves.

If Democrats would regain their former power in the states and in the nation, they must first of all establish a political party agreeing heartily upon certain essentials and willing to co-operate zealously toward a common end. With such an organization in the field it will not be long before acceptable leaders and real popular issues will appear.

"TOO MUCH POST-DISPATCH."

A bitter critic attributes some election reversals hereabouts to "too much Post-Dispatch." What directly caused the reversals complained of was too much independent vote. The Post-Dispatch pleads guilty to being the only independent newspaper in town. If its influence was reflected in the independent vote, and if an independent vote is a bad thing for a town, then the Post-Dispatch has a good deal to answer for. But can there be too much independent voting in a big city and can the most decent and intelligent citizenship afford to trust to the guidance of a party-bound press on either hand?

A GREAT MYSTERY.

The two great historical mysteries: The man in the iron mask and the man who wrote the Junius letters are joined by a third not less mysterious. Are Miss Elkins and the Duke going to be married or are they not? It seems to depend upon the time of day. At 9 a. m. it is given out that the young couple are surely going to be married; at 10 they are not; at 11 they were never engaged; at noon papa sells securities; at 1 the Duke is on his way to claim her, etc., through the 24 hours. The question is not directly important except to the Elkins family, to the Duke, and perhaps to the Duke's sisters, cousins and aunts. But a statesman who has a daughter, and a bundle of securities which may become a dot, owes something to the curious public. Anyhow, we ought to be spared any more historical mysteries. Junius has driven more than one man crazy wondering who he was, and the same is true of the man in the iron mask.

If this Elkins-Abuzzi mystery is not dispelled within the next 15 years our sanity can be saved only by thinking about something else.

BUSINESS REVIVAL.

Does confidence go too far in expecting a very prompt resumption of the normal in business? There appears no good reason for apprehension on that score, in the opinion of many thoughtful men. It was the want of confidence that caused the panic—not a want, or a disruption, of the facilities for doing business; not a want of substance in the foundations of business.

The element lacking is now supplied. Nobody is "afraid to go ahead;" active plans are universal. "Confidence" is abundant and credit is strong. Money is cheap and its plentifulness is distributed. There is the "farmers' prosperity" viewed as the basis of good times.

Given this spirit and these conditions and it should not require long to bring the facilities of industry and trade into full utilization. These have not lessened and they are capable of prompt resumption. The machinery of the factories is there; the railroads are able to take care of a vast business on short notice; the shelves of the merchants will hold the goods.

In these circumstances how can any advance or extension of trade be regarded as too sudden, as "unwholesome," or "risky?" The rapidity of increase of extension characteristic of boom times will merely be, up to a certain point, "business catching up." Until it is past the point of genuine recovery, the advance can scarce be too rapid to be substantial, and in the nature of things there can be no overdoing.

Papa Elkins' announcement surprised Italy. Well, maybe the Duke is engaged to Miss Elkins while she isn't engaged to him. Such things have been. Our American girls have been known to have more than one string to their bows and several beaux on the string.

Statesmen are not to be judged by their favorite tunes, but, even so, a man in the White House who loves "Rufus Rustus Johnson Brown" and "The Road to Mandalay" might seem preferable to one whose favorite was sleepy old "La Paloma."

It is cheering to perceive that the hard determination in Henry's head seems proof against soft-nosed bullets.

Certain eminent Republicans are figuring on how they are going to get rid of old Joe Cannon without once thinking that he probably has a well-greased toboggan ready for them as soon as they put in an appearance.

Mr. Roosevelt's connection as a private citizen with the Standard Oil Outlook will not be any harder to explain than was Mr. Roosevelt's connection as President with Practical Man Harmon.

A scientist informs the world that monkeys fill teeth. He talks like a man that had just stepped out of a dental chair.

Mr. Taft might reverse the order of things and direct Mr. Roosevelt what to do in the present administration.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE.

Suppose.
To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
I should like to propose a problem for the St. Louis public to solve. Suppose on a day when it rains sheets a woman with a baby happens to find it absolutely necessary to go downtown by the Olive street cars. She holds an umbrella in one hand and the baby in the other. How is she to pay her fare as she enters the car?
MARGARET B.

For a School Holiday.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
I think the question of giving the public schools a holiday the day after Thanksgiving should be agitated. So many teachers and pupils usually like to leave the city, visiting relatives or home on Thanksgiving day, which would be possible if the day following were also a holiday, thereby giving them four days in a stretch. The school work at this time of the year is quite strenuous and an extra holiday would provide a rest for the mind. The teachers, principals and supervisors would also feel benefited, refreshed and invigorated by this holiday. Therefore, why should not we have it?
SCHOOL CHILDREN.

The Worked-Over P. A. Y. E. Cars.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
Your editorial, "Imitation Pay-as-You-Enter Cars," furnishes the key to the situation. These apology-worked-over-imitation cars are the sole cause for the annoyance, risk and unpopularity of the system. Cars built for this purpose such as are in use in New York and Chicago would unquestionably be as popular here as in those two cities. The attitude of the Post-Dispatch toward questions relating to the comfort and convenience of the public, such as this one, for instance, commends it to the people generally to a greater extent than any other newspaper in St. Louis. Without the agitation for fair and decent treatment of the public by some such organ, people in general would have very little consideration from corporations.

Investigating the Western Union.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
For the past four or five weeks a representative of the Government has been here investigating the Western Union Telegraph Co. Last Saturday a few of the employees were sent to another floor to be interviewed by this representative. Mr. Bellman, W. U.'s chief operator, was also on hand and heard all the conversation. Had the operators wished to state what was true, they would have been afraid, as the company is laying off employees for any little excuse that can be dug up. Also, those who were sent down to be interviewed were employees that the company considers loyal, or were loyal during the recent strike. One or two were interviewed who struck, but went back before the strike was called off. Also those who were interviewed were coached in advance, being told every question that would be asked of them, also what answer would be considered O. K. by the company. I presume this is what the Government would call a fair and impartial investigation.

Counting Election Returns.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
The official returns of the election for Governor, Lieutenant-Governor, Secretary of State, Auditor, Treasurer, Attorney-General and Railroad Commissioner are opened, counted and published by the joint session of the Legislature, presided over by the Speaker. This is done immediately after the meeting of the Legislature. The Secretary of State has not now nor never had any right or authority in the matter. He, however, invariably, by himself or a clerk in his office, assisted in the tabulation of the returns. The Legislature has whole and sole control of the matter and can send for persons and papers, correct and amend returns, supply omissions and do all and everything to them, seemingly right and proper in the premises. They may do as did Congress in 1876 in the election for President. Tilden, although elected by three electoral votes, according to the official returns, was declared elected. There is no contest or appeal from the conclusions of the Legislature as to the election of these State officers.

Howe's Idea of Socialism.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
Jeffrey Howe is quoted in your paper as having said: "The menacing evil to the country is socialism and anarchy, which come through dissatisfaction with government." Now, as I understand the terms "socialism" and "anarchism," the one is the extreme opposite of the other in nature and purpose, and the other is the extreme of the one. I am informed, and am in favor of law and order. Anarchists propose to get along without law. It surely cannot be to the advantage of anyone to mistake the attitude of the Socialists, either through ignorance or ill-will. To misrepresent them is only to create sympathy for them. Many people confound Socialism with socialism, which is a prominent label in a big magazine article elaborately pointed out the radical differences between the two. It is a sad commentary on the intelligence of the average American citizen if he is willing to continue in utter ignorance of a political doctrine which is rapidly acquiring believers in all countries, and which now has 1,000,000 voters in the United States.
HUGH HENZEL, 1206A Market street.

POWER FROM THE PIT'S MOUTH.

From the Technical World Magazine.
The power engineer is trying to realize a new vision. For years he has been watching the long trains of coal cars which rattle over the country, carrying the raw materials of power to a million distant firebricks; he has seen the great three-horse coal wagons, which block the city streets and scatter powdered carbon over pedestrians; he has looked up to see million chimneys, belching out smoke and into the sky, polluting the air men breathe, blackening the grass and trees, doing damage incalculable to health and property, half shutting out the sun. He has noticed the trail of ashes and cinders left by the creaking refuse cars on their way to the unsightly dumps.

And he has dreamed of a future city, as active, as powerful as this first, but a city of clean and unobstructed streets, lapped in an ocean of fresh, pure air, where tall and flourishing trees rise in the stead of smoking stacks and where grass and flowers and little children may bloom in the clear colors which nature gives them.
Out in Colorado, for the first time, he has made his dream come true. There, at the mouths of the coal mines owned by the Northern Colorado Power Co. of Lafayette, great powerhouse have been built and the coal, once loaded into cars by the miners' shovels in the lower levels of the pits, is transformed without further handling, into electric power, which supplies already nearly a score of towns and cities, strung on a 150-mile loop of wire like jewels on a necklace.

THE HAND THAT ROCKS THE CRADLE—

JUST A MINUTE FOR VERSE AND HUMOR

Written for the Post-Dispatch by Clark McAdams.

SIT-AS-YOU-ENTER.

The assurance that Mr. Beggs' confidence in the pay-as-you-enter system grows out of favorable comment made by the ladies is not surprising. Unquestionably the ladies are sitting as they enter more than they were. When it was a footrace for a seat, they got a strap; but now that they have only to arrive, they are much better off.

The explanation is very simple. In the slow but scientific pushing for place on boarding a pay-as-you-enter car, the ladies are much more experienced than the men. The average woman goes to some two or three bargain rushes a week. In the dense jam around waist marked down to 25 cents she learns how to get up front. After a few years she becomes as good a ground gainer as Coy, Acker, Exendine or any of the other crack football players who can proceed against the line of greatest resistance.

The average man is a lobster at this. He is utterly incapable of the inside work which has supplanted brute strength in all mass plays. The result is that the women are working the forward pass and the squeeze play on him, and they would not go back to the old pay-when-discovered cars for anything.

It is well.

KATHERINE ELKINS.

KATHERINE ELKINS, we're all of us waiting To see if the papers have spoiled your romance, Or if, as we hope, you are just hesitating, As maidens will do if you give them a chance.

O, we are all betting the Duke is devotion— The sort of a hero to laugh at his King— And he will come for you across the wide ocean, O, Katherine Elkins, in Spring.

KATHERINE ELKINS, we're all of us with you— We think you're too good for him any old day, Nor title nor rank that he may have to give you Can equal your heritage, be what he may.

O, we are convinced you can have if you want him, Regardless of kinsmen or any old thing, And he will come for you, nor anything daunt him, O, Katherine Elkins, in Spring.

KATHERINE ELKINS, we'd rather you married A man of your race, if you found one to please, But if you cannot, why we won't see you harried By envious women across the wide seas.

O, tell us you've loved him since first that you met him, And tell us he pledged you his love with a ring, And we will see to it, you bet, that you get him, O, Katherine Elkins, in Spring.

AMBITIONS OF SONNY AND SUE

Drawn for the Post-Dispatch by ALBERT CARMICHAEL.

American Soldiers of Fortune.

A Series of Important Biographies Written for the Post-Dispatch

By ALBERT PAYSON TERHUNE.

AMERICA owes its discovery and most of its explorations, conquests and development to a series of hardy adventurers—Soldiers of Fortune. These men were pathfinders; not always patriots nor moved by lofty impulses. With sword and brain they erected deathless fame from a new world and blazed the way for less hardy souls. Their story is the story of our country. To their heroism and to the perils they encountered we owe our greatness among the nations. Not all American Soldiers of Fortune were Americans; nor did they all confine their exploits to the United States. Their field of action was the whole Western Hemisphere; their adventures laid the foundation for the Hemisphere's progress; their life stories are romances of action, danger, sublime achievement.

NO. 1.—CHRISTOPHER COLUMBUS.

AN ITALIAN mariner, late in the fifteenth century, had an idea, which he peddled from court to court through Europe, seeking in vain for a buyer. Everywhere he was laughed at as a crank or scorned at as a heretic.

The man was Christopher Columbus. His idea was that the earth was round—not flat, like a pancake, as everyone else believed—and that he could therefore reach the east by sailing west. In other words, that if he sailed far enough westward he would reach India. Columbus tried in vain to interest monarchs and capitalists in the scheme, to the extent of persuading them to fit out an expedition for him on speculation. At last he brought his idea to Isabella, Queen of Castile. The plan which Columbus had had for a long time, and which he had been able to keep secret, was a simple one. He had a hunch that the world was better than a wise man's logic. Isabella's fancy was dazzled at the prospect of the boundless wealth Columbus hoped to find in India. She was what would nowadays be called a "plunger." There is no proof that she was moved by pity for Columbus or by love of progress. She merely invested in a risky scheme that might or might not result in boundless wealth.

A "FANATIC" WILD CRUISE.

At a cost of $80,000, which Isabella secured for him, Columbus equipped two little ships. A rich Spaniard, Don Pinzon, supplied him with a third. Few reputable sailors cared to start on such a visionary trip, and under the direction of a man who was thought crazy. So Columbus collected a crew—120 men in all—from the felons, the disreputable outcasts and the offcasts of the Spanish ports. On Aug. 3, 1492, he set sail. An unlucky enterprise, it was called. And, to the superstitious, the fact that Aug. 3 fell on Friday added to the risk. Superstitious people of today may be interested to know that Columbus not only sailed on Friday, but that Oct. 12, 1492 (the day America was discovered) was also Friday.

Out into the unknown sailed the three awkward, weak little caravels, with their crews of beggars and criminals and their "crazy" commander—sailed on a wild goose chase made possible by an ignorant woman's gambling instincts. For six weeks the caravels beat their slow way westward over an unknown sea. Hope sank low, as each morning's sail failed to show land across the miles of dreary water. Muthy threatened. Failure seemed to rise like a wall to block the way. Then—out of the sea rose a wonderland. The Bahama Islands, outposts of the mainland beyond, were discovered. The tired, excited adventurers landed ashore. This country, Columbus believed, was a remote coast of India. He had heard rumors that India's mountains were bristling with gold and jewels. He thought this island of treasure lay now within his very grasp. The copper-colored natives who came wonderingly to welcome the strangers looked somewhat like the people of India of whom he had read. So he called them "Indians," and the name "stuck" as an unconscious memorial to the first discovery of a new world; but because he had apparently opened a shorter way to the fabled treasures of India, again and again he returned to America, discovering more and more land; opening vistas of a future no one then had the brains to foresee.

Homeward sailed Columbus with news of his discovery. All Spain went wild with joy. Columbus, the visionary they had laughed at, was now the Man of the Hour. Not because he had proved the earth to be round; not because he had discovered a new world; but because he had apparently opened a shorter way to the fabled treasures of India. Again and again he returned to America, discovering more and more land; opening vistas of a future no one then had the brains to foresee.

But he failed to find there the gold mountains, the caves of jewels, the uncounted wealth he had hoped for. Nor did he show how to reach the parts of "India" where trade already existed. So the first delirium of joy died down. Columbus star was waning. Isabella, who had been his friend, was dead. The King of Spain listened to malicious lies told by the discoverer's envious foes. Columbus was arrested, during one voyage, and sent to Spain in chains. Later he was dismissed, as useless, from the King's service. Worn out, poor, disgraced, robbed of rank and honors, the man who discovered America once wrote in the bitterness of his heart:

IN DISGRACE AND POVERTY.

"I have no home but an inn, and often have no money to pay for my sustenance there."

May 20, 1506, at the age of 70, Columbus died in poverty and obscurity. His whole life had been a long, bitter struggle against fate. He had sought India, unknowingly, he had discovered America. He had sought fabulous gold and wealth, and he had found only the way for the world's greatest nation. He died, believing he had scored an utter failure.

Bad Gunnery in the Spanish War

THE Spanish War was won by two naval victories—Manila and Santiago. Naturally, the fame of the American Navy, and especially of its gunnery, flamed across the world. As a matter of fact, the shooting at Manila and Santiago was about as bad as possible. At Manila 50 per cent of the shots missed at a range of from 600 to 400 yards; at Santiago—the chief battle of the war—at least 90 per cent. A special commission of officers, which was appointed to examine the wrecks of the Spanish ships at Santiago, established this fact officially. It reported that of 3600 projectiles fired, only 123, or 3.4 per cent, had found a mark on the Spanish ships. Making every possible allowance for the fact that the Spanish ships were not in the best of health, it struck its mark. The day of the battle was clear, the sea smooth, the targets were 20 feet high and 200 feet long, and the range was 280 yards. English gunners at that time could have hit the Spanish ships at least two out of every five shots. Fortunately for us, the fact that we were fighting a thoroughly enfeebled power, whose ships had neither gunners nor proper ammunition aboard gave us an undisputed victory.—McClure's.

NO. 3—CLEOPATRA TELLS HOW TO SPIN THE WEB OF INFATUATION FOR MAN.

Reported for the Post-Dispatch

BY HELEN ROWLAND

"DEAR, dear!" exclaimed Cleopatra, fanning herself languidly with a peacock feather as she motioned me to a seat beside her on the edge of the Sphinx. "What have I done now?"

"It isn't what you've done NOW," I retorted, making hasty mental notes of her Salome-like costume and beautifully tinted peroxide hair. "It's what you've done before, some time ago. Weren't you the original 'love pirate'?" I added, delicately.

Cleopatra laid down her peacock feather and sat up with an interested expression. "Love pirate?" she repeated.

"What's that?"

"It's a new name," I explained, "for the woman who flirts with another woman's husband. It's what a Chicago matron has entitled the girls in downtown offices who are a menace to wives and homes and go."

"Oh," exclaimed Cleopatra, delightedly. "I see! It's the woman who happens to come along when a man is looking for temptation."

"What?"

"The rock that chances to be in the way when he is sailing the high seas in search of adventure."

"I beg your pardon."

"It's the 'Other Woman,'" declared Cleopatra scornfully, waving her peacock feather, "who is always to blame when a man slips out of the straight and narrow way and goes zigzagging along the downward path."

"You don't understand!" I broke in desperately. "It's his stenographer!"

"Or his manicure," interrupted Cleopatra. "And if it weren't one of those things, it would be the other woman, or the apple woman at the corner. My dear, and Cleopatra laid her peacock feather on my wrist impressively, "when a man has made up his mind to be tempted he isn't going to be thwarted by a little thing like the lack of temptation. The kind of husband who can be lured into a flirtation with his stenographer would be sure to find somebody else to lure him if he didn't have a stenographer. You don't hear of confirmed and hardened bachelors suffering from the temptations and pitfalls of office life or being ensnared by the siren of the keyboard, do you?"

"Of course not," I agreed, "because a man who has passed his thirty-fifth year and still remains a bachelor has a heart bound in triple brass and his ears stopped to the sound of sirens. Helen of Troy and She-Who-Must-Be-Obeyed and Madame Pompadour and the Lorelei would be wasting their time if they tried to make goo-goo eyes at any single man who has reached—the Iron Age!"

"That's what?" Cleopatra opened fanning to gaze at me inquiringly.

"The age," I explained, "when an unmarried man has more interest in the stock market or the evening paper or a new brand of sauce than in the most beautiful hour of his life. The age when he has acquired cast-iron opinions."

"And no human feeling to speak of," broke in Cleopatra.

"Middle-aged!" I finished, "when you can't lure him into a flirtation or matrimony!"

"Yes," sighed Cleopatra, "of all the hard things in this world the confirmed bachelor is the hardest!"

"And the married man the easiest," I put in.

"Of course," replied Cleopatra. "A man, like any other animal, in order to be tamed and trained properly, must be caught early—before he has gotten his second mental teeth."

"Or heard the call of the wild," I suggested.

"Or learned to find things for himself and to sew on buttons and make coffee and mix a cocktail," agreed Cleopatra. "Man is a creature of habit, and once he gets the bachelor habit it clings to him worse than the smoking habit or the gambling habit or the love habit. It gets into his system."

"And embitters it," I added, "until his heart becomes atrophied, so that when you sit opposite him at dinner you know perfectly well that he won't watch the light playing on your hair because he'll be too busy watching the waiter to see that he holds the Burgundy at the proper angle to keep from stirring up the sediment."

"And that when he sits next you in a cozy corner," appended Cleopatra. He does it not in order to get a chance to hold your hand, but in order to get a chance to smoke. If Antony had been an iron-aged bachelor," she continued sadly, "instead of a married man, it would have taken more than a sweet smile and a few extra bangles to have made him turn the world topsy-turvy for me."

"Yes," I sighed, "but you must have had some wonderful charm to hold any man for all those years—even a married one."

My dear girl," and Cleopatra leaned over toward me confidentially. "It wasn't my charm that held Antony."

"What?"

"It was my—cook!"

"Your cook?"

"And my soups and sauces and puddings."

"I don't understand!"

"I made gobs more comfortable for him than Octavia did. That's all!" explained Cleopatra nonchalantly. "I let him put his feet all over the chairs and leave his pipe ashes on the carpet and loit on the best divans and lay his head on all the best sofa pillows and eat and bully the servants and go round without his collar. A man is exactly like a cat; he doesn't become attached to persons but to a place; he isn't looking for a hour, but for a comfortable spot where he can throw things round and do as he pleases. And I made Egypt more cozy and inviting than Rome. When any man clings to a woman for more than five years you may be sure that it isn't the grand passion but a good menu which has anchored him; and if he spends more time with his stenographer than with his wife it is not because he finds her

How to Brown Hair Without Detection

Mrs. Potter's Walnut-Juice Hair Stain Can Be Applied in a Few Minutes Every Month.

There is a way of staining gray, faded or bleached hair any shade desired, from a beautiful rich brown to almost black, so that it is difficult, if not impossible, for even experts to detect that the hair has been treated in any way.

This preparation has the tremendous advantage of being free of all the poisonous ingredients, such as arsenic, lead or other poisons which are so often used in hair dyes. It has no odor, no oil, no sediment and no grease, and it does not rub off on the clothing. It makes the hair grow out fast and luxuriant.

A liberal amount as a laboratory trial pack, with a booklet on hair, is sent by Mrs. Potter's Hygienic Supply Co., 436 Groton Bldg., Cleveland, Ohio, for ten cents. If you will send twenty-five cents in stamps or a full sized package may be obtained at drug stores for one dollar a package.

It is applied in a few moments with the comb, and it stains nothing but the hair, and it stays in the hair, and it produces a beautiful shade of brown or black.

One bottle of this Walnut-Juice Hair Stain can last a year.

more fascinating, but because he finds her more comfortable."

"And soothing?"

"And better for his digestion?"

"And for his peace of mind?"

"And if any woman is looking for something soft and easy and impressionable let her pass by the bachelor, who already has all the comforts of home. He is hardened and cold and wise."

"But the married man," I broke in with a smile and a shrug as I rose to go, "is—otherwise."

"That's the answer," cried the Sphinx, turning on us suddenly.

"To—what?" I inquired with a start.

"To—the eternal masculine!" whispered Cleopatra, but the Sphinx merely winked one eye gravely and continued to gaze dreamily out over the Nile.

The KITCHEN CABINET

THE "HOMELY" THINGS. NICE on a time a tortoise of a plodding, slothful habit.

Was jeered at, laughed at, taunted by a boastful, bragging rabbit.

The story then goes on to say: How Tortoise stopped that game. And how, though he was slow and calm, he got there, just the same.

It is so with womankind—one may be learned in bookish lore. Another gets the meals for Pa. Perhaps knows nothing more.

Indeed, your sweet, domestic girl is off behind the times. She doesn't take to Isben. Nor fathom Browning's lines.

But when a wife is wanted, is any one to blame. If the girl who joves the "homely" things. Should get there, just the same?

Mallow Pug.

This is a simple dish, being merely cream, whipped and sweetened, into which is stirred finely cut bits of marshmallows. It does not need garnishing, and is so rich that cake need not be served.

Cherry Macaroons.

Mix together a cup of chopped peanuts, one of powdered sugar, a large tablespoon flour and the whites of two eggs. Drop a few inches apart on buttered paper and brown lightly in oven.

Ham—Old English Style.

Spread eight or ten slices of cold boiled ham with mustard and add a dash of cayenne pepper to each slice. In the baking dish put one tablespoonful of butter and a third of a glassful of currant jelly; melt together, then put in enough slices of the ham to fill the dish; let it brown and serve immediately.

Bridget's Beantides.

Blessed is the curry-comb used for scaling fish; it is better than a knife as it protects the hands.

Blessed is the dust bag made to fit over the broom to remove dust from the floors. For health's sake, this should be slightly dampened.

Blessed are the tea leaves sprinkled over the rugs and carpets before sweeping. They will look much fresher, and the clouds of dust are prevented by the dampness.

Blessed is the vinegar which makes tough meat tender. Lay the meat in a dish of it for an hour, turning occasionally.

Blessed is the bread raised with yeast in the following proportions: Half a cup of yeast, or a quarter of a cake, to one pint of liquid.

Blessed is the corn popper used for toasting odds and ends of stale bread which would otherwise be wasted.

Blessed is the spoonful of salt added to the water in which are boiled eggs slightly cracked. The salt prevents the whites from coming out.

A Dreaded Verdict.

Mr. Patterson (as sounds of weeping came from the laundry): Gracious, dear, who is that crying?

Mrs. Patterson: The washerwoman.

John: She has sued for divorce and is afraid the Judge will order her to pay her husband's alimony—Everybody's.

ABOUT EGGS.

SO PREVENT the juice of fruit pies from soaking into the bottom crust, brush the crust over with a beaten egg before putting in the fruit. When making frosting in warm weather, set the whites of the eggs on ice for a short time before using.

Egg stains can be easily removed from silver by rubbing with a wet rag dipped in table salt. To clean vinegar bottles and cruet, crushed egg shells in a little water are good and handy.

To mend broken china, use a cement made by stirring plaster of paris into the white of an egg.

Eggs are valuable remedies for burns and may be used in the following ways: The white of an egg simply used as a varnish to exclude the air or the white beaten up for a long time with one tablespoonful of fresh lard till a little water separates, or an excellent remedy is the mixture of the yolk of an egg with glycerin, equal parts. Put in a bottle, cork tightly and shake before using. This will keep for some time in a cool place.

Use ordinary soap for ordinary purposes; Ivory Soap for better-than-ordinary purposes.

It applies particularly to colored goods, wash silks, lawns, dimities, etc.

Tuberculosis

The way to stop the ravages of the great white plague is to remove the cause.

A noted authority states that tuberculous cattle are responsible for the disease among the human family.

Butter made from unsterilized milk and cream of tuberculous cows is spreading the germs of disease and death throughout the land.

In a single herd of 180 dairy cows recently tested, 160 were condemned and killed on the spot.

There is no inspection of dairies and creameries which guarantees against such dangers.

Careful tests show that tubercle germs may live and multiply in butter almost indefinitely.

Many large butter makers admit the superiority of oleomargarine over butter as a pure food product.

COY IS HERO OF NEW HAVEN AND YALE STUDENTS BELIEVE HE'LL BRING VICTORY OVER HARVARD

YALE'S HOPE IN HARVARD GAME IS IN TED COY

New Haven Students Believe This Player Alone Can Bring Them a Victory.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 17.

OF ALL the members of Yale University today, including both students and professors, it is doubtful if there is one better loved than Ted Coy, and there certainly is no one more popular or more universally admired.

Last fall, in the Princeton game, he took a place in Yale field from which he can never be removed. Last Saturday, at Princeton, when he took charge of the team, he was the brains, the heart, the defense, its everything. He won even a higher place, and by the end of the game none of the cries were for Yale or for the team. Everything was for Coy. Today on the campus the saying is Coy spells Yale.

It is on Coy that the Yale students will bet if they bet against Harvard. It is Coy whom they expect will win the game and Coy has promised to live up to their expectations in so far as in his power.

Last night he returned from Andesley in Pop Coy's big automobile after a 10-mile ride, which resembled one of his dashes through center, and he was enthusiastically cheered when he reached the campus.

This Coy who is so universally admired and who is such a popular favorite is barely 20 years old and is very boyish, except when he is playing football. Even then he is boyish. He wants to go through center, he rages when he cannot and then because almost supernatural in power, he rushes blindly through.

Coy is six feet tall and looks more. He is a pleasant, boyish-looking giant and weighs 155 pounds. He is very well proportioned and has not an ounce of extra flesh upon him. He follows the rules laid down by Trainer Mack during the fall, but never trains during the rest of the year, and does not in the fall from physical necessity.

While Coy would rather fight than eat after he gets started he hates wordy warfare, and is all up in the air when there is an argument. In the Princeton game he wanted to go back to fullback, and kicked, mentally, when Capt. Burch told him he must stay at end. Coy thought he was field captain and could do what he wanted to. So when the opportunity offered itself, when it seemed that Yale was being defeated, Coy sent Field down to end, and went in at fullback. From this on Coy was the whole team and won, assisted by his old friends, Brides, Hobbs and Goebel.

Varsity Players Will Be at Work Today for Saturday's Great Battle

W HILE most of the members of the Yale varsity are up at Andesley-on-the-Hudson, the country home of De Witt Cochrane, a few who did come back practiced with the scrubs and with the freshmen at Yale field Monday afternoon. Regular practice will begin again today.

The freshmen have broken training after the defeat by Harvard last Saturday, but they still enjoy going out and getting pummeled by the varsity men. Fred Murphy, one of the halfbacks, was unable to go to the field because of injuries he incurred in the game against Princeton. He has a Charley-horse and is very lame so that it is doubtful if he will be able to play against Harvard.

There is very little betting here on the Yale-Harvard game, the Harvard money being at 6 to 5 odds. The Yale men believe that their whole team consists of Coy, and think he exhausted himself in the game against Princeton. Last year he played a magnificent game against Princeton, winning the game in the second half, but he was unable to do anything against Harvard the following week. Last Saturday Coy exerted himself more against Princeton than he did a year ago.

On Coy's playing next Saturday probably depends the captaincy, for it is said there will be two in the field against Harvard, who is a sheet man, and Philbin, who has the support of several of the players. If Coy plays a good game next Saturday the players will have to make him captain, as he now has the whole undergraduate body behind him.

Manager Everett Thompson of the Yale ticket department has sent $20,000 back to those who ordered tickets for the Yale-Harvard game and whose orders it had been impossible to fill. The game will be the first one between Harvard and Yale in years which has decided the championship, for in former years Harvard has generally been defeated by Dartmouth or the Indians. This year Harvard has not been defeated, though both Yale and Harvard have been tied.

BEST PUNTERS OF EASTERN FOOTBALL TEAMS ARE AT YALE AND PRINCETON

INDIANS WILL BE CRIPPLED ON WESTERN TRIP

CARLEISLE, Pa., Nov. 17.—The Carleisle Indian football eleven returned from the University of Pittsburgh game badly bruised, and last evening Coach Warner gave them a light practice, which included signal work in the football cage and a four-mile run for limbering up. Coach Warner feels that the game at Pittsburgh was raggedly played by the Indians, but excuses the Aborigines because of their broken up physical condition.

The Indians say that the weather conditions interfered materially with their style of play. Every attention will be devoted for the next couple of days to conditioning the Carleisle eleven for the Western trip, which opens with the Minnesota game at Minneapolis on Saturday, and the Thanksgiving day game at St. Louis. The Indians leave Carleisle for Minneapolis late Wednesday night or the next morning.

Fullback Payne's condition is improving and he will likely see the Western games. MAROONS IN GOOD SHAPE; STAGG HAS NEW PLAYS. CHICAGO, Nov. 17.—The Maroons reported for light practice in good condition yesterday. Nearly every man on the team was nursing bruises and most of them were stiff and lame. But they took several laps around the stadium track and appeared to be in fairly good condition.

All of the varsity players came out of the hard game with Dartmouth Saturday in good condition, with the exception of Dunlap, who has a slightly injured shoulder. Dunlap's injury, while not serious, is extremely painful, and the coach proposes to give the big fellow a rest until the last of the week. Withington took Dunlap's place in the line-up for signal practice.

DORANDO TO ARRIVE TODAY; WILL TRAIN AT COLUMBIA. NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—Dorando, the Italian runner, who was disqualified after being assisted across the tape during the Marathon race at the Olympic games, and who arrives in New York today for a re-running of the event, with John J. Hayes, the victor, will complete his training at Columbia University.

Princeton University, it is said, offered the little Italian the privilege to use the track, but Columbia being nearer at hand he decided to train in New York. Hayes is training at a nearby park.

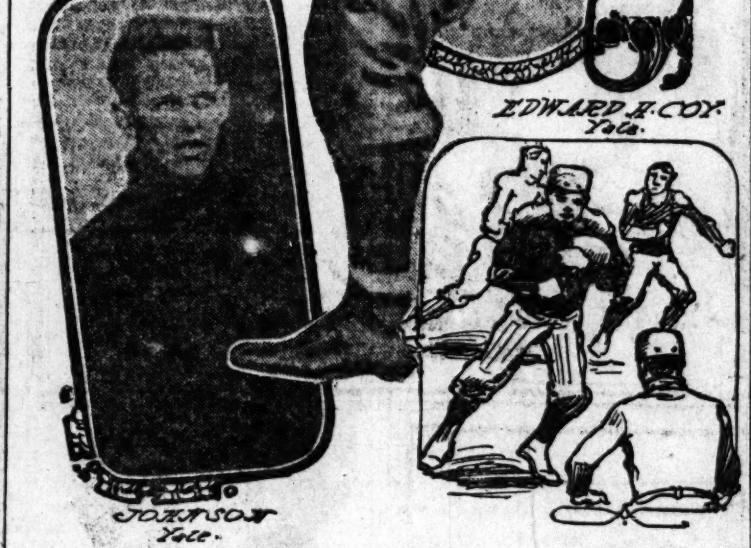

Hunt and Matthews will meet in the red-ball tournament match at the Hausers evening. Last night Toser kept up his winning streak by winning from Martin, 65 to 63. Toser's high run was seven.

Dufour won from Lang in the professional men's three-cushion billiard tournament match at the Royal last night, 25 to 21. The match was an even one throughout.

Dalton defeated Patterson in the three-cushion billiard match at the Grand last night, 20 to 17. The winner averaged .60 and made a high run of 4.

HUESTON OUTPLAYS VETERAN MASTER OF POOL, DE ORO, IN FIRST BLOCK OF THEIR CHAMPIONSHIP MATCH

HUESTON

Old Pool Master, De Oro, Falls Before Kid Hueston

Thomas Hueston, challenger, and Alfredo De Oro, world's champion pool player, will play the second block of 20 points of their 60-point match for the title at the Rex billiard auditorium this evening. On the first night's play at the Rex last night, Hueston picked up a lead of 34 balls on the champion, Hueston, although he started slowly, was in much better form than De Oro last night. He made a number of difficult shots and his general execution was the better. De Oro missed several comparatively easy shots that cost him quite a number of points. Hueston was the steadier and the balls also seemed to roll better for him. Once or twice when it came down to a duel of wits, Hueston also came out on top. Hueston made one foul during the match when he touched the cue ball, which gave De Oro a chance to clean up.

The game was intense from start to finish. Hueston gained a lead on the first three frames, then De Oro hit his stride and went to the front, only to give way to Hueston later in the contest. At one stage of the game De Oro had a lead of 48 balls, but he seemed to grow a bit careless, and Hueston took advantage of every miss to sweep the table.

A crowd that taxed the capacity of the room witnessed the contest. Both men shot carefully and the game was not over until near midnight. Charles C. Peterson acted as referee.

The second block of points this evening will be started at 8 o'clock. The score of last night's match follows:

Hueston—12 9 6 0 2 5 15 13 2 15 15 4 12 5 10 12 12 12 0 14—Total, 202; high run, 52.

A. A. U. BREAKS OFF RELATIONS WITH BRITISH BODY

James E. Sullivan Upheld and Re-Elected at Meeting in New York.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—Athletic relations between this country and England were practically severed yesterday, when the Amateur Athletic Union, at its annual meeting at the Hotel Astor refused to recognize the disqualification of J. C. Carpenter, the Cornell University runner, who was suspended for life by the British officials.

Immediately after the 400-meter race at the recent Olympic games in the London Stadium, Carpenter was charged with fouling Lieut. Halewelle, an English runner, was disqualified from the race and suspended. At the annual meeting of the British A. A. U., which followed this ruling was upheld, the American athlete permanently suspended and the American Union notified. When the matter came up before the meeting yesterday the English ruling was ignored and the following resolution unanimously passed:

"Be it resolved, That the secretary of the A. A. U. be instructed to communicate with the secretary of the A. A. U. of Great Britain, acknowledging the receipt of his letter of Oct. 6, setting forth its disqualification of Carpenter and replying that this union declines to recognize its disqualification of Carpenter."

It also passed a resolution prohibiting any association from giving permission to a registered athlete to compete in any international competition unless such meeting shall be approved by the A. A. U.

The letter was prompted by the action taken by the British officials at the Olympic games when they refused to allow America a voice in its rulings and for having accepted the entry of "Tom" Longboat, the Canadian Indian distance runner, who is under the ban of the A. A. U.

The meeting, which began in the morning and lasted all day, re-elected James E. Sullivan president. It was attended by delegates from all its subsidiary bodies, and represented every section of the country.

Referring to the Olympic games in his report, President Sullivan said that the most serious mistake the British committee in charge of the games made was in accepting the entry of Longboat, the Canadian Marathon runner, who, he said, was openly known to be a professional. He added that the acceptance of his entry over the protest of the American A. A. U. was a direct insult to our organization.

Cayou Shifts Heavy Men to Ends for Big Game

Hagin and Rodenberg Moved Out to Stop Speedy Backs of Vanderbilt Team.

Cayou is taking care that his team shall not suffer defeat again because of light ends. In yesterday's practice Cayou put Hagin, the center, and Rodenberg, the tackle, his two heaviest men, at the end positions.

Neither of these men are fast on their feet, but both are strong and aggressive. Cayou hopes that they will be able to stop the Vanderbilt backs from circling the flanks as did Missouri Saturday.

The line does not bother the W. U. coach, for it held strongly against Missouri. Ferrings will go to center in Hagin's place, while Glasgow will be put in at tackle. Both of these sub have played well whenever given a chance, and should be able to hold down their jobs regularly.

There is no sign of discouragement at W. U. The men went through signal and tackling practice with a cheerful good will that spoke wonders for their staying powers.

The W. U. students' loyalty has not abated in the least because of Missouri's victory, and a large crowd of enthusiasts followed the practice yesterday.

COCHENS WILL TAKE SQUAD TO FARMINGTON THURSDAY

Eddie Cochems, coach of the St. Louis University football eleven, will insist that all of the members of his football squad be taken on the trip to Farmington, Mo., Thursday for the game with Carleton College at that place.

Cochems was glad that he did not have to do much coaching yesterday. His voice has failed almost completely because of a cold. He can barely whisper and he did most of his talking yesterday mainly through motions.

THE SLEEPING SICKNESS WHICH MEANS DEATH

How many readers have heard of this terrible disease? It prevails in that far-away country—Africa—especially the Congo district. It is caused by a tiny, delicate insect, the tsetse fly. When it bites a person, the sleeping symptoms begin and finally the sufferer sleeps until death occurs.

Contrast this with the peaceful, balmy sleep of health. Is there anything more wearing than to lie awake at night, tossing about, nervous, with cold feet, hot head and weary knees what else? Short of letting the tsetse fly bite us we would do almost anything for relief. How can we prevent it? Mr. George Hayes, of Union City, Pa., writes: "I had lost my appetite, was all run-down, could not sleep at night. I had tried everything without relief. Vinol was recommended, and to my surprise, it helped me at once; gave me a splendid appetite, and now I sleep soundly."

What Vinol did for Mr. Hayes, it will do for every run-down, nervous and overworked person who cannot sleep. VINOL is sold in St. Louis by Wallis-Wilson Drug Co., Cor. Sixth and Washington av.

NEW PLANS FOR BIG COAST BOUT

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Nov. 17.—Jim Coffroth had Stanley Ketchel and Billy Papke sign new articles for the 20-round fight on Thanksgiving afternoon. The men are to weigh in at 168 at 11:30 in the morning. Jack Welsh was chosen referee.

This is the result of Manager O'Connor's breaking loose from Gleason and going over to Coffroth because he was eluded by Gleason's signature. A large bonus which he refused Ketchel, setting the fight for the afternoon will attract a larger crowd than in the evening.

JEFFRIES CLUB TO HOLD KAUFMANN-BARRY FIGHT

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Nov. 17.—The Jeffries Club has virtually matched A. Kaufmann and Jim Barry to fight 40 rounds on or about Christmas day. Billy Delaney, who has been a champion out of Kaufmann, has been anxious for this match, but until today Barry eluded it. Last night, however, Barry agreed to meet the big native son, and now all that remains is to get Kaufmann's signature. He is in San Francisco, but is expected back shortly to begin preparations for this match.

McCary's, the rival club, has matched Jim Finner and Edling Johnson, and Danny Wastner and Walter Fisher for 10-round events on Nov. 24.

Packer May Go Abroad. PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 17.—It was announced today that Packer McFarland would go to England to fight the winner of the Britt-Summers bout, which takes place in the ring of the National Sporting Club of London on the night of Dec. 14.

NATURE'S CURE FOR RHEUMATISM

The conditions and causes which produce Rheumatism all suggest a healthful vegetable remedy as the surest and safest cure. The disease is brought about by the accumulation of uric acid, an irritating, pain-producing property in the blood. This causes a weakening and souring of the circulation which then becomes unfit for nourishing the body, while the deposits of uric acid in the nerves, muscles, joints and bones produce the pain and agony of Rheumatism. To treat the trouble with medicines containing potash or other strong minerals, is simply adding another poison to the already weak, diseased blood, sapping it of its remaining vitality, and perhaps in the end making a physical wreck of the sufferer. The one safe and only cure for Rheumatism is S. S. S. It is nature's remedy for this disease, made entirely from healthful vegetable ingredients extracted from the roots, herbs and barks of the forest and fields. S. S. S. goes down into the blood and removes every trace of the cause of Rheumatism, cleanses and purifies the circulation, and restores health and comfort to those who are suffering from this painful disease. There is but one way to be sure you are not dosing your system with mineral medicines, and that is to take S. S. S. Book on Rheumatism and any medical advice free.

SPORTS OF ALL SORTS TOLD IN BRIEF

JOHN DALY MATCHED WITH BOSTON PLAYER

John Daly declares that he has a letter from Jimmy Ryan of Boston, in which Ryan accepted his terms for a three-cushion billiard match for $500 a side. Ryan challenged Daly recently and Daly sent Ryan the terms on which he would play. Daly plans to play the match near the holidays. Ryan is a former pool player. Like all men who turned from the 15-ball game to billiards, he is capable of putting up a strong game. Horgan, Daly and Cline starting out as pool players. Hueston, the present three-cushion champion, is a former pool champion, and is now trying to regain that title.

Joe Capron and Al Cutler will play the second block of 150 points of their 750-point 18.3-balkline match at the Pine at 12:45 o'clock today. The first block of points was played yesterday, Cutler scoring 150 points to Capron's 106.

Hunt and Matthews will meet in the red-ball tournament match at the Hausers evening. Last night Toser kept up his winning streak by winning from Martin, 65 to 63. Toser's high run was seven.

Dufour won from Lang in the professional men's three-cushion billiard tournament match at the Royal last night, 25 to 21. The match was an even one throughout.

M'CARTHY WILL PUT ON THREE WRESTLING BOUTS

Barnard McCarthy, boxer, wrestler, promoter, has two announcements to make in regard to his wrestling show at the Business Men's Gymnasium this evening. One is that women with escorts will be admitted free and the other is to the effect that the wrestlers can use any hold they wish except the strangle. "Sure an' some one of the bres might get their necks broken and I would be blamed for it if they use the strangle," said the Hibernal.

Three bouts that promise some hard work are to be put on. In the main event Tim McCarthy will oppose Lloyd Carter. Spiritus and Joseph are booked to meet in the semi-windup while Brooks and Reichenback will go on in the curtain raiser. George Baptiste will referee the bouts.

Eddie Randall, boxing instructor of the Missouri A. C., held a number of try-out bouts at the club last night for the open tournament to be held at the club on Nov. 28. A large number of boys sparred with big gloves. Randall picked out the best of the bunch and they will appear in contests at the regular boxing tournament.

An open amateur boxing tournament will be held at the South Broadway A. C. on Dec. 5. The club has a number of good boxers, but all local registered amateurs desiring to enter can do so by addressing Len Ising, athletic director of the club, at 611 Geyer avenue.

BRIGHT ONE-ACT
COMIC OPERA IS
"NAKED TRUTH"

Climax Full of Fun, Following
Happily Needless Apprehensive Shivers.

FORFEIT OF FALSEVOVS

A Garment Disappears Every Time a "Love Lie" Is Told at Trysting Place.

When Phyllis Rankin and Harry Davenport at the American began losing their clothes, garment by garment, because they tell "love lies" within hearing of the Goddess of Truth, who is concealed at the bottom of the well beside which they keep their tryst, one shiver apprehensive.

Knowing how many sweet lies there are in Love's equipment, the probable plight of these two sweethearts when they shall have reached "The Naked Truth," which is the title of their clever one-act comic opera, is terrifying to contemplate. Happily, however, their billing and cooling was interrupted in time yesterday, so that nothing shocking happened. Davenport, as a sergeant in the King's Scotch High Bands, lost only his bonnet, plaid, kilt, sporran and phillibeg-hoot, mon, hoo's you for gold Scotch? and Phyllis Rankin, as a Norwegian peasant girl, is separated from a

UPWARD START

After Changing from Coffee to Postum.

Many a talented person is kept back because of the interference of coffee with the nourishment of the body.

This is especially so with those whose nerves are very sensitive, as is often the case with talented persons. There is a simple, easy way to get rid of coffee evils and a Tenn. lady's experience along these lines is worth considering. She says:

"Almost from the beginning of the use of coffee it hurt my stomach. By the time I was fifteen I was almost a nervous wreck, nerves all unstrung, no strength to endure the most trivial thing, either work or fun.

"There was scarcely anything I could eat that would agree with me. The little I did eat seemed to give me more trouble than it was worth. I finally quit coffee and drank hot water, but there was so little food I could digest, I was literally starving, was so weak I could not sit up long at a time.

"It was then a friend brought me a hot cup of Postum. I drank part of it and after an hour I felt as though I had had something to eat. I felt strengthened. That was about five years ago and, after continuing Postum in place of coffee and gradually getting stronger, today I can eat and digest anything I want, walk as much as I want. My nerves are steady.

"I believe the first thing that did me any good and gave me an upward start, was Postum, and I use it altogether now instead of coffee." "There's a Reason?"

Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Read "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs.

PLAYGOERS' GUIDE.

OLYMPIC—"Follies of 1908." Ziegfeld "revue." Brightly entertaining at certain moments, but marred by vulgarity and cheap burlesque suggestiveness.

CENTURY—"The Virginian." Dramatized from Owen Wister's novel. Cast headed by W. S. Hat and Frank Campeau, supported by capable company.

GARRICK—Williams and Walker in "Bandanna Land." Play much improved since its last season's St. Louis success. Presented by clever colored company.

GRAND—"The Flower of the Ranch." Musical comedy, with Western melodrama atmosphere. Fairly well presented, but no scenic feature.

AMERICAN—Bright vaudeville bill. Well presented, but no scenic feature.

NEW COLUMBIA—Entertaining vaudeville bill, with Emma Rainey in "A Modern Pocahontas" as a topline.

STANDARD—Dreamland Burlesques. Burlesque and vaudeville.

Gaiety—Fads and Follies Co. Burlesque and vaudeville.

HAVLIN—"The Angel and the Devil." Frontier play along somewhat new lines. Locomotive race big scenic feature.

SCHOOL CHILDREN WON'T HAVE DAY OFF AFTER EATING TURKEY

Superintendent Blewett Says Sessions Will Resume Friday Following Thanksgiving Feast.

Little Willie's only hope for escaping school on the day after Thanksgiving will be to eat so much turkey on Thanksgiving day that he will be in the doctor's care Friday. For school will "take up" one week from Friday morning, just as it does any other Friday morning.

Post-Dispatch readers have suggested in letters to the paper that, as the Friday after Thanksgiving is a day between two holidays, it is useless for school work, and should also be made a holiday. But—

"School has kept in past years the day after Thanksgiving," said Superintendent Blewett Tuesday, "and it will keep this year. It is not as good a day as others, but it is worth while to have school then, if only to keep the children in many parts of town off the street."

"I believe a great majority of the parents, and of the children, too, would prefer to have school on that day."

Her Boarders Had to Leave. Mrs. Dora Smith has filed suit for divorce against Samuel G. Smith, alleging that he compelled her boarders to leave and charged her with misconduct. She also alleges non-support. They separated Oct. 1 last. Mrs. Smith lives at 288 Greer avenue. She says she doesn't know her husband's whereabouts.

FREE CHRYSANTHEMUM SHOW
AT SHAW'S GARDEN CONTINUES

Will Be Open Each Day Until 10 P. M. Until Saturday, When It Closes.

Though last week's attendance at the free chrysanthemum show at Shaw's Garden was only half that of last year, on account of the cold weather, the show is said by florists to be one of the finest ever held in the country in many respects. The attendance last week was 10,000. The opening week of last year it was 20,000.

Many new plants have been added to the exhibit for this week and the scene has been "freshened" by those additions so that it has lost none of the beauty that characterized the opening week.

The show is held in a tent, heated by steam and lighted with electricity. The buffet room gives a softness of tone that adds to the loveliness of the exhibit. There are 3000 plants and 400 varieties on exhibit.

The show will be open until 10 p. m. every evening until Saturday, when it will close.

Safe Falls and Kills Man. Perry Price, 19 years old, a son of Mr. and Mrs. John Price of Jerseyville, was killed when a two-ton iron safe which he was helping to move into the Odd Fellows' Building at Jerseyville Monday, slipped. It crushed his head. The safe was lifted from his body with crowbars. The right leg of Thomas Sullivan, another safe-mover, was broken.

COON HUNTER DROPS 50 FEET

Trusts Grape Vine, Has Fall, Not Much Hurt.

PRINCETON, Ind., Nov. 17.—Mallett Fields, while coon hunting near here last night, climbed a tree after a coon and followed it out on a wild grape vine 50 feet up. The vine broke and Fields dropped to the ground and rolled down a hill. No bones were broken, but he is suffering seriously from the shock of the 50-foot fall. The coon got away.
